WOUNDS 3 WITH SHOTS

Police Claim He Fired Upon Gas Station Attendant In Robbery Attempt.

(By Associated Press)

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis.—Two women, a man and a two-year-old boy died in a flaming cottage on Lake Wissota, near here today. The police expressed the opinion they had been slain.

A second man was found shot to death in an Eau Claire cemetery. The police expressed the opinion his death was linked with those in the cottage.

A third man, Donald T. Cameron, about 30 or 35, who lived near here, was found shot to death in a garage near the Lake Wissota cottage. Chief of Police Edeard Holtz said he had committed suicide.

Holtz said that Cameron had robbed a filling station in Chippewa Falls and wounded three men a few minutes before the cottage fire was discovered and Cameron's body was found.

The bodies of the four persons in the cottage were charred but were believed to be those of Cameron's wife and son, and A. W. Wilk and Mrs. Dale McFete of Minneapolis.

The body found in the Eau Claire cemetery was that of Marshal Brenden of Eau Claire. He had been wounded twice in the head. The wounds were inflicted by bullets from a German type pistol. Such a weapon was found beside Cameron's body, Holtz reported.

Slugs Attendant.

Holtz said that Cameron held up the filling station about 12:45 a. m., slugged the attendant, Earl Redard, and took $20 from the cash drawer.

Redard staggered from the station and flagged down two motorists, Frank Babbitt and Sam Holeen of Bloomer. As the trio conversed, Redard told the police, Cameron leaped into his automobile, drew alongside the other car and fired two charges from a shotgun.

The pellets struck Redard in the abdomen, inflicting a serious wound. Holeen was wounded in one eye, and Babbitt in the shoulder.

Cameron then fled.

The cottage fire was reported a half hour later. Police found the charred bodies of the four victims and Cameron.

Russian Eyes Turn Toward This Portion of Rumania

SEEKS PARLEY WITH CITY ON GRADE PROJECT

County Pleased With State's New Financing Plan, Wants To Meet Mayor, Council.

WILL GIVE REPLY THEN

Commissioners Contend City Will Benefit as Much as County by Improvement.

Pleased with the state highway department's new plan for financing the proposed route 30-N grade elimination project, county commissioners said today they would seek a conference with city council and Mayor Claude M. Hunter before replying to the state.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners and spokesman for the board, said he would confer today with Mayor Hunter in an attempt to arrange a special meeting with a council committee, possibly early next week.

In its revised financing plan, submitted yesterday to the city and county, the state cut the county's share from $50,000 to $40,000 and boosted the city's portion from $21,500 to $30,000. The entire project was estimated at slightly more than $500,000.

Says It's More in Line.

"The state's latest offer is more in line with what we (the commissioners) think it should be, and we naturally like it better when it reduces the county's share of the cost," Mitchell said.

"We still think the city will benefit as much as the county from the route 30 project and should contribute more equally to the cost of the work," he added.

Negotiations extending over several weeks have failed to bring an agreement between the state and county commissioners for financing the grade elimination project.

Commissioners agreed to contribute the $50,000 previously requested by the state if they could pay it over a three-year period and received several other small state highway improvements in return. The state held out for financing on a two-year basis.

The increase in the city's share of the cost may result in another hitch in the plans if council refuses to allocate the additional funds. In setting up the $21,500 fund several weeks ago, council indicated it would go no higher.

The project would eliminate dangerous crossings at the B. and O. and Erie tracks west of the city. Overhead and subway structures would be built.

Massed Charge Cut to Pieces By Rifle Fire

Helsinki Reports Biggest Battle of War In Karelia, Claims Victory Over Reds; Soviet Reporting Sending Reinforcements.

BULLETIN

HELSINKI—(AP)—Thirty British Blenheim bombing planes were reported today to have reached Finland to strengthen the Finnish air forces resisting the Russian invasion. Previously it had been reported that 50 Italian planes had been received by the Finnish forces. Other military equipment was said to be arriving from other countries.

(By United Press)

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—Finnish troops, using rifles, machine guns and artillery to rain death into massed Russian infantry, have thrown the Red army back for a three-mile loss in eastern Karelia in what is developing into the biggest battle of the war, Helsinki dispatches said today.

Fighting centered at the Kiviniemi bridge head at the eastern end of the Vuoksi lake system, west of Lake Ladoga.

Dispatches said the Russians, following the old czarist tactics of massed frontal infantry charges with the bayonet, regardless of the difficult terrain, had suffered heaviest losses due to the determined Finnish resistance and the accuracy of Finnish fire.

It was asserted that the Russians had been thrown back at least three miles, and perhaps 3½ miles, in the vicinity of the Kiviniemi bridgehead.

The Russians were stopped also, dispatches said, in attacks to the northwest of this sector, at the northwestern end of the Vuoksi lake system.

Not only were the Finns defending themselves successfully, it was asserted, but they counter-attacked frequently and at many points along the Vuoksi line succeeded in pushing the Russians back from positions which they had occupied early in the war.

Stockholm reports said that Russia was sending heavy reinforcements to the Karelian isthmus, and that troop trains were moving from Leningrad toward the frontier day and night.

Dispatches emphasized that at no point had the Russians penetrated into the Mannerheim line, the main Finnish defense line in Karelia.

There were many unconfirmed reports from Helsinki. One was that Italian planes had bombed a Russian air base at Baltiski (Baltic port), on the Estonian coast of the Gulf of Finland, destroying hangars.

Another was that a number of Finnish motorboats, bought last year from Great Britain, had penetrated the Russian navy base of Kronstadt in an audacious raid and inflicted "not inconsiderable" damage to the Russian fleet.

Reds Try to Bomb Finn Naval Base.

HELSINKI—(INS)—Soviet bombing planes carried out a fruitless raid on the Finnish naval base at Hango today coincident with reports that fast motor torpedo boats of Finland's navy had attacked the Russian naval base at Kronstadt.

Several waves of Russian bombers swept over Hango at a high altitude in a heavy fog.

Many bombs were dropped, but no damage or casualties were reported, most of the missiles falling harmlessly into the water.

DAVIS ARRIVES TO VISIT MOOSE

Senator Misses Dedication of New Annex; 2,000 Turn Out For Lodge Ceremonies.

James J. Davis, U. S. senator of Pennsylvania and director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, arrived in Mansfield this morning to inspect the new $25,000 annex and remodeled home of the Mansfield lodge at 133 North Walnut street.

Davis was unable to attend the dedication ceremonies which attracted a crowd of 2,000 to the home last night due to a previous engagement. He was to leave for Pittsburgh this afternoon.

Malcolm R. Giles of Moose-heart, Ill., supreme secretary, was the principal speaker on the dedication program last evening.

"The progress of the Mansfield order since its inception in 1910 is remarkable," Giles said as he lauded its development. "The supreme lodge is proud of its achievements and its growth certainly must reflect the progress of your city.

Arthur F. Hilborn, governor of the Mansfield lodge, opened the dedication program by introducing his fellow officers and Earl A. McFarland, deputy supreme governor and past governor of the Mansfield lodge, who presided.

The speakers on the program included Walter S. Ruff of Canton, past supreme governor, and Mrs. Ethel Ferrell, regent of the Mansfield auxiliary.

The Westinghouse Glee club appeared on the program which was followed by dancing with music furnished by Bill Grassick's orchestra.

Accused Child Molester Held For Jury Under $20,000 Bond

George Call, 30, Sharon township WPA worker, identified as the man who molested at least four young girls in the past six months, was held in county jail today under $20,000 bond on charges of rape and assault with intent to rape.

Arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court this morning, Call pleaded innocent to the rape charge but pleaded guilty to the other count.

Charges against Call were filed this morning by Detective Lee J. Remy and Deputy Sheriff Glenn P. Freeman who arrested the man at his home in Vernon Junction Wednesday following an attempt to lure a 14-year-old girl from the Butler school the day previous.

During questioning in the past three days, the officers said Call confessed to the attempted attack on a Jefferson township school girl last summer. She identified the man in the police lineup Thursday.

Yesterday a 14-year-old Jefferson township school girl in a signed statement taken by County Prosecutor G. W. Marriott accused Call as the man who raped her two weeks ago. She said he accosted her while she was walking along the road near her home en route to the store in Bellville.

Remy and Freeman said they have not completed their investigation. They planned to have several other small girls who have been molested brought to police headquarters in an attempt to identify the man.

SEVEN HURT IN TRAFFIC HERE

Boy, 9, Suffers Fractured Leg When Auto Hits His Bike In One of 4 Accidents.

Seven persons were injured, none seriously last night and this morning in four accidents in and near the city. Two including a nine-year-old boy are in the hospital.

The injured youth is Larry Sanborn, 9, son of Mrs. Grayce Sanborn, 245 West Third street, confined in General hospital with a fracture of the right leg.

Police said he was struck at 10:30 p. m. yesterday by an automobile driven by Henry Livensparger, 183 North Linden road, as he was crossing Park avenue west in front of the American Legion home.

Jacob Schwert, 59, R. D. 2, Lexington, was injured when the car he was driving collided with a machine driven by Harold Oxman, 27, Shelby, on U. S. route 30-N near the Crawford county line yesterday afternoon. He was removed to the Crestline hospital for examination.

Nick Taneff, 218 Bowman street, was treated for bruises sustained at 6:30 a. m. today when he was struck by a car operated by C. M. Robbins, 25 Wise avenue, while he was crossing Fourth street at North Main.

Four persons received cuts and bruises last night as a machine driven by William R. Myers, 18, of 223 Park avenue east, collided with a truck operated by Harry J. Mapes, 19, of 61 East First street, on U. S. route 42 south of Mansfield. They were Myers and three passengers in the car, Mrs. Fred Durbin and her daughter, Lucille, 20, and L. Rimmer, 18, all of Mansfield.

Mapes was arrested by state highway patrolmen and charged with careless and reckless driving. He is to be arraigned in municipal court next Wednesday.

Retired Policeman First Donor To City's Finnish Relief Fund

A retired Mansfield policeman was the first person in the city to contribute to the Finnish Relief fund which was launched here yesterday after an urgent appeal by former President Herbert Hoover.

Joe Adams, 427 North Mulberry street, who served 22 years on the Mansfield police force before retiring in 1933, gave the first dollar to start the war relief fund. He has no friends or relatives in the tiny country which is so gallantly playing David to Russia's Goliath.

"I don't suppose I ever knew a Finn in my life," he said, "but it just makes me so dog-gone mad to see that great big country pick on a little one like Finland. I hope every American helps on the fund—even if it's only two-bits."

The News-Journal yesterday offered its facilities as a collection agency for the fund in response to an appeal from former President Herbert Hoover.

Today, a large jar in the business office of The News-Journal was being filled with silver and paper contributions.

These will be forwarded to the Finnish Relief fund headquarters in New York.

The second Mansfield contribution was made by Wilbur Kaser, 225 Blymyer avenue, a member of the American Legion, and the next was by Louis A. Them, 20 West Arch street.

Hoover, who is serving as volunteer chairman of the Finnish Relief fund, made a nation-wide appeal to Americans to express their sympathy for Finland in a practical manner. The little country, he said, is not a rich one and has little reserve for an emergency.

LEAGUE: Reds Go On 'Trial' At Geneva; Finns Present 'Case'

(By Associated Press)

GENEVA—The "trial" of Soviet Russia before the League of Nations on Finland's charges of aggression opened today when the league council met in private session with Russia's delegate absent.

The meeting, behind closed doors, was to receive the Finns' appeal and decide on procedure.

Finland's white-haired delegate, Rudolf Holsti, was called before the body to present his country's formal demand for "moral condemnation" of the Soviet Union.

After a seven-minute meeting, the council adjourned temporarily.

Holsti asked for the delay to complete his case with a cable he said he was expecting from Helsinki.

Although Jakob Surits, the Russian delegate, was not present at the council meeting, he stayed in his Geneva hotel where he received worried Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate.

Dr. Koo had the delicate job of deciding China's vote on Russia, which has been a source of arms for China in her fight against Japan. Earlier, he had called on Richard A. Butler and Joseph Paul-Boncour, British and French delegates, just after their arrival here this morning.

Great Britain and France were said to have agreed to back the Finns' appeal as far as Helsinki desires to press it, including support of a move to expel Russia from the league.

Allied sources indicated British hesitation to support the expulsion demands had vanished after Britain and France had balanced their chances of the Soviet's friendship against possible effects of opinion in neutral countries, particu-

STILL HUNGRY

Cleveland Relief Bonds Hit Snag as 16,000 Wait Food.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Sixteen thousand underfed relief clients faced a barren week-end today as relief funds were expected to run out Sunday and technicalities plagued the issuance of $1,200,000 in bonds to continue limited food orders.

City council Monday night will be asked to approve the bond issue, which then is expected to be "peddled" to the state, which has not said yet it will buy.

Two organizations exhorted the unemployed and jobless to throng the meeting, and Frank Horvach, county treasurer of the Workers' Alliance, said that that group would meet Wednesday night "if something is not done by then to solve the relief crisis."

Second Inmate Flees Asylum From Which Ruth Judd Escaped.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(INS)—As officers continued their futile hunt for Winnie Ruth Judd, insane murderess who escaped last Sunday from the Arizona State hospital, it was revealed today that another inmate had escaped from the institution.

Newest to break from the hospital, the sheriff's office reported, was Bruno Hanks, 34, described as a "violent case."

SULZMANN DEAD

Former Cuyahoga County Sheriff Dies Of Heart Ailment.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A colorful career in Cleveland politics ended last night with the death of soft-spoken John M. Sulzmann, 70, city councilman and former Cuyahoga county sheriff.

He was stricken with a heart attack Oct. 24.

A Democrat, Sulzmann spent nearly 40 years in public life.

Charge Ohio Mother Kidnaped Son From Grandmother's Home

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON C. H.—Three-year-old Buddy Johnson was missing from his grandmother's home in New Holland, O., today and a kidnaping charge was placed against his mother, Mrs. Agnes David Johnson of Middletown.

Authorities in other cities were asked to aid in a hunt for Mrs. Johnson. She visited her son Friday at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Jesse Johnson, and brought him gifts.

Pickaway county officers were told that the younger Mrs. Johnson asked to be permitted to take her son to a restaurant. Later, according to the report, she was seen putting the boy in an automobile and then driving away with a man.

Mrs. Johnson is separated from her husband, Aaron Keith Johnson, 45, of Dayton. The child had been given into the custody of his grandmother, who said she kept him in Florida for a time.

A kidnaping warrant was sworn before Mayor C. B. Stebleton of New Holland by the grandfather.

700 YULE CANS

Boys And Girls Give Food at First 'Can Matinee.'

More than 700 cans of fruit and vegetables for the Christmas baskets went into storage at the Mansfield Service League rooms this morning after the first "can matinee" was held at the Ohio theater.

Seven hundred boys and girls paid their way into the theater by presenting a can of food to the doorman, and there were tempting jars of all kinds of substantial food items that will help fill Christmas baskets for Mansfield's needy families.

The next two "can matinees" will be given next Saturday at the Majestic and Ritz theaters. These shows are made possible through the cooperation of theater managements, ushers, Mansfield Motion Picture Projectionists, local 576, and Mansfield Stage Employes, local 319.

Christmas baskets will be distributed this year by the Mansfield Service League and the Salvation Army, with The News-Journal collecting funds and food for the baskets.

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Gordon K. Chalmers, president of Kenyon college, Gambier, today had been fined $10 and costs in traffic court on a speeding charge. An additional charge of failing to have a driver's license was dismissed.

WAR AT SEA: New 'Epidemic' Of Ships Attacks Plagues British

(By International News Service)

LONDON—A new wave of disaster struck British merchant shipping today, setting at naught recent official assertions that the German mine and submarine menace had been met and overcome.

In rapid succession, two more British freighters went to the bottom in the waters off England, bringing to 100 the toll of lives during the new "epidemic" of sinkings within the last 48 hours.

Today's victims were the 6,655-ton freighter Brandon, torpedoed and sunk off the west coast of England with a loss of nine lives, and the 751-ton merchantman Corea.

Four of the Brandon's crew required hospital treatment. Of those aboard the Corea, which sank immediately after striking a mine off the east coast, seven were saved but an equal number, including the captain are missing and feared lost.

SHE ISN'T TELLIN' NO LIES, MISTER — HONEST — LAST NIGHT THAT SUGAR BOWL WAS FULL OF DIAMONDS!!

HONEST, I WOULDN'T TELL YOU ANY LIES — I'D RATHER DIE! I WAS WASHIN' THE BURRO - SOAP GOT IN HIS EYES - HE RAN OUT INTO THE DESERT AN' I RAN AFTER HIM —
GO ON -
MR. BLACK ON A HORSE WAS STANDIN' IN THE DESERT — WHEN HE SAW THE BURRO ALL WHITE AN' FOAMY-LOOKIN', HE HOLLERED, "HELP — A GHOST!" — DROPPED A BAG HE WAS HOLDIN' AN' RODE AWAY AWFUL FAST -
THEN I SAW THE BAG WAS FILLED TO THE TOP WITH DIAMONDS — WHEN MRS SPRUCE AN' MRS. BLACK CAME OUT I SHOWED THEM THE DIAMONDS
DARRELL McCLURE
MRS. BLACK WAS AWFUL SCARED — SHE SAID, "MY GOODNESS GRACIOUS - NOW WHAT'LL I DO? — IF THE SHERIFF COMES AN' FINDS THE DIAMONDS — I'LL HAVE TO TELL HIM 'BOUT MY HUSBAND - AN' IF I DO HE'LL KILL US ALL!!"

THE WOMEN AN' KID ARE LYING! CUT ME LOOSE AN' I'LL CHOKE THE TRUTH OUT OF 'EM
SHUT UP — YOU POLECAT!! I'VE LISTENED TO ENOUGH OF YOUR LIES — WHEN THAT BRANDING-IRON GETS HOT WE'LL BURN THE TRUTH OUT OF —
HEY, CHIEF — POSSE COMIN'!
WE'RE LEAVIN' BEFORE SHERIFF GRAYSON COMES — BUT-DON'T FORGET — I'LL BE BACK AFTER MY DIAMONDS!!
IT'S NO USE — THE BANDITS ARE RIDING FRESH HORSES — ONCE THEY REACH THE FOOTHILLS THEY'RE SAFE FROM AN ARMY
DARRELL McCLURE

NOW, SISTER — YOU MUST CHEER UP — WE ARE ALIVE — AND INNOCENT OF ANY WRONGDOING — EVERYTHING WILL TURN OUT ALL RIGHT —
BUT MY HUSBAND — A CAPTIVE IN THE HANDS OF RED HARDIN AND HIS BAND OF KILLERS — THEY'LL TORTURE — KILL —
MAYBE THEY'LL BE SCARED OF SHERIFF GRAYSON AN' HIS POSSE — AN' MR HARDIN SAID IF HE COULD GET THE DIAMONDS HE WOULDN'T BE MAD AT NOBODY —
BUT THE DIAMONDS HAVE VANISHED — THEY WERE SAFE IN THE SUGAR BOWL JUST BEFORE RED HARDIN AND MY HUSBAND SURPRISED US — WHO COULD HAVE TAKEN THEM??
DARRELL McCLURE

THE DIAMONDS WERE IN THE SUGAR BOWL ON THE SHELF — NOT ONE OF THE BANDITS ENTERED THE HOUSE — AND STILL THE DIAMONDS HAVE VANISHED!!
PERHAPS YOUR HUSBAND —?
NO — HE WAS HELD PRISONER BY THE GANG — BOUND HAND AND FOOT
IT'S UNCANNY — WE HADN'T SEEN A STRANGER FOR DAYS — ZERO SLEEPS INSIDE THIS ROOM — HE'D WAKE IF ANY PROWLER ENTERED —
GLORYOSKY! COME OUT AN' LOOK AT THE GARDEN — THERE'S SOME LITTLE GREEN SPROUTS COMIN' UP ALREADY — I DON'T KNOW WHAT THEY ARE — BUT THEY LOOK GRAND

RED HARDIN AND HIS GANG LEFT A PLAIN TRAIL COMIN' AN' GOIN' TO BLACK'S HOUSE —
BUT FOR WHAT?
THAT GANG NEVER RODE NO TWENTY MILES 'CROSS THE DESERT JUST 'TO SAY, "HOWDY FOLKS"
BLACK'S WIFE AND SISTER-IN-LAW ACTED SORTA NERVOUS-LIKE —
I DON'T BLAME 'EM FOR KEEPIN' A HALTER ON THEIR TONGUES — IF I WAS A COUPLE OF NICE OLD LADIES LIVING ALONE IN THE DESERT — I WOULDN'T DO MUCH TALKIN' EITHER
DARRELL McCLURE
AIN'T IT SWELL? PRETTY SOON ALL THEM TINY LITTLE GREEN THINGS IS GONNA BE FLOWERS AN' VEGETABLES — SOME PLACES YOU NEED TO HAVE A HOT-HOUSE IN DECEMBER — IN THE DESERT ALL YOU NEED IS A HOT GARDEN

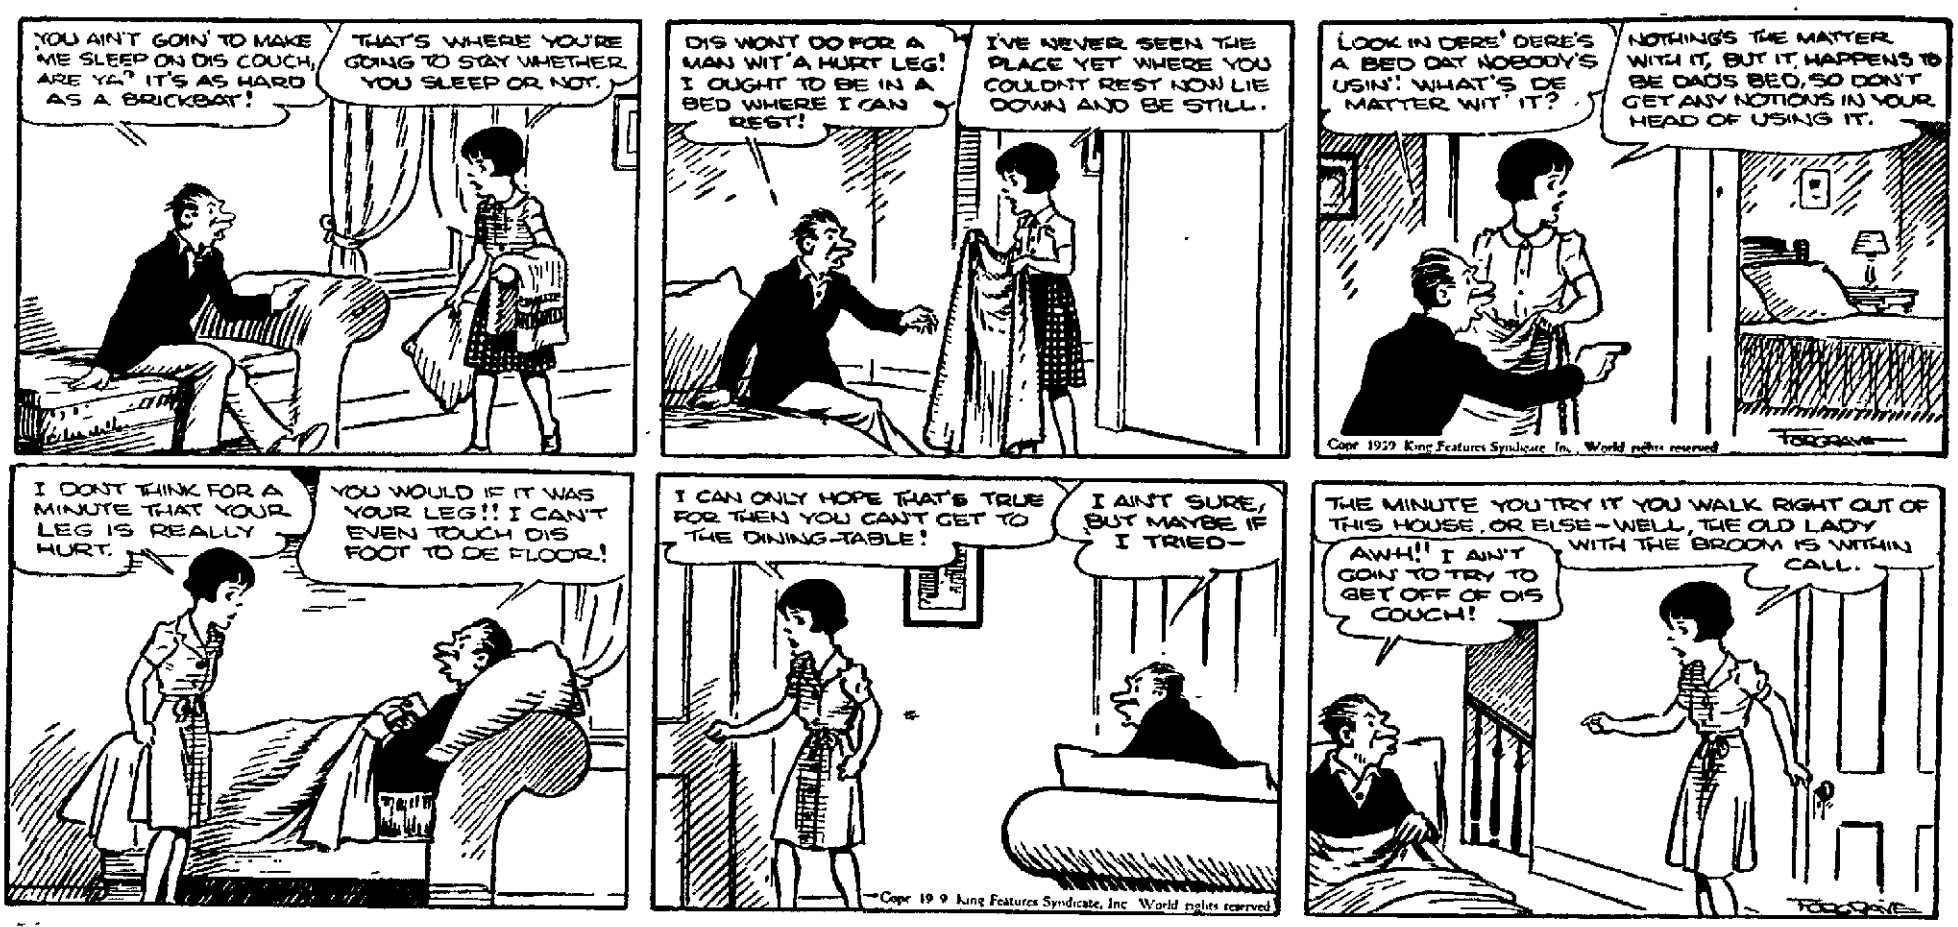
BIG SISTER



YOU AIN'T GOIN' TO MAKE ME SLEEP ON DIS COUCH, ARE YA? IT'S AS HARD AS A BRICKBAT!
THAT'S WHERE YOU'RE GOING TO STAY WHETHER YOU SLEEP OR NOT.
DIS WON'T DO FOR A MAN WIT' A HURT LEG! I OUGHT TO BE IN A BED WHERE I CAN REST!
I'VE NEVER SEEN THE PLACE YET WHERE YOU COULDN'T REST NOW LIE DOWN AND BE STILL.
LOOK IN DERE' DERE'S A BED DAT NOBODY'S USIN'! WHAT'S DE MATTER WIT' IT?
NOTHING'S THE MATTER WITH IT, BUT IT HAPPENS TO BE DADS BED, SO DON'T GET ANY NOTIONS IN YOUR HEAD OF USING IT.

YOU MIGHT AS WELL KNOW, SPECK, YOU'RE NOT WANTED HERE. YOU'LL HAVE TO GET OUT.
WHAT? WIT' DIS LEG? I CAN'T EVEN BUDGE FROM DIS COUCH FOR A LONG TIME YET. DIS LEG NEEDS REST.
THAT HURT LEG IS ALL TALK! THERE'S NOTHING WRONG WITH IT. HE'S JUST PLAYING OFF TO SLEEP AND GET WAITED ON.
BUT WHAT CAN WE DO? HE'S TOO MUCH FOR US TO JUST UP AND THROW OUT OR I'D TACKLE IT.
I'D LIKE TO SEE 'EM PUT ME OUT NOW. I'M IN HERE, AIN'T I? IT WON'T BE LONG 'FORE I'M UP AT DE TABLE WIT' DE REST OF 'EM.
HERE WE ARE IN THE SAME OLD FIX. STUCK WITH SPECK AGAIN!
YEP. HE'S WON THE FIRST MOVE ALL RIGHT NOW IT'S UP TO US TO GET UNSTUCK.
THAT'S GOING TO BE A CHORE. AS LONG AS WE MAKE HIM COMFORTABLE HE'LL NEVER GET OUT.
THERE'S THE ANSWER RIGHT THERE!

G. O. P. Trains Guns on New Deal Domestic Policies

LEADERS MAP STRATEGY FOR '40 CAMPAIGN

Dewey Joins Landon, Knox In Conference to Plan Attack On Administration.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Republican leaders, jubilant over the party's prospects in 1940 national campaign, today mapped a frontal assault on New Deal domestic policies but adopted a strict "hands off" attitude regarding foreign affairs.

Thomas E. Dewey, New York's youthful district attorney, joined other party leaders in a series of conferences in the capital in which he made it plain that he will base his fight for the Republican nomination on charges that the New Deal has failed to solve the nation's problems.

Anxious to set in motion a nationwide drive against the New Deal, former Gov. Alfred M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936; his vice-presidential candidate, Frank Knox, and other party leaders remained after the GOP national committee session to arrange a program of co-operation.

"The reports brought from all parts of the country indicate that Republican leaders and Republican voters are united and confident of their ability to restore prosperity in the nation," said party Chairman John D. M. Hamilton.

Dewey, fresh from his opening speech at Minneapolis, said that he would give full details of his program for the nation in future speeches. His next major address will be before the Pennsylvania society in New York on Dec. 16.

Hits Kennedy's Statement.

He described the meeting in Minneapolis as "the greatest political meeting I ever attended" and scornfully rejected comment upon British Ambassador Joseph Kennedy's assertion that President Roosevelt should have a third term because it would take another man two years to prepare for the presidency.

Dewey didn't refer to his political opponents as Democrats—he used the term "New Dealers" in speaking of the administration. He said that he felt about a third term "as most other Americans feel about it."

Landon, having removed himself as a presidential possibility, led in the drive to whip up Republican enthusiasm.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, a presidential candidate himself, Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader in the senate, and Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, the house Republican leader, were among those conferring here.

BANDIT HUNTED

Masked Purse Snatcher Gets $42 From Woman.

Police today hunted a masked purse snatcher whose bold tactics netted him $42.

The theft was reported by Mrs. Frances Hymes. $16½ Newman street, who said a middle aged man came onto the porch as she was leaving the home of Mrs. Henry Schmidt, 156 East Third street, and grabbed her purse.

She told the officers the man wearing a mask over his face, pointed a gun at her and threatened to shoot unless she "kept quiet." Mrs. Hymes said the man grabbed the purse from her hand and dashed between the houses.

WRONG PERSON NAMED IN CASE

Error In Transcribing Facts of Court Charge Corrected.

In an account of a municipal court case printed on Nov. 25, The News-Journal erroneously stated J. L. Bose, 307 North Main street, had been convicted on a charge of assault and battery and fined $25 and costs and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

Mr. Bose was not arrested. It was he who brought charges of asault and battery against another man, Everett Brown. Brown was arrested and fined, and ordered to pay Bose $30 for medical service and clothing repair as the result of an altercation.

The attention of The News-Journal was called to this inaccuracy made in transcribing the facts of the case, today and this paper gladly makes this correction, and sets for the actual facts.

Mr. Bose is a reputable citizen and The News-Journal regrets the error.

Up and Down THE STREET

Mansfield hasn't had a "toy rehabilitation" project for several Christmases, largely because attics were cleaned up of broken toys in the years when the city firemen were doing the project. But it has been started again on a small scale this year, with youths in the NYA repairing and repainting broken toys for the Service League and building new wooden toys for the Amima club for distribution to needy families. Their workshop is on the third floor of the city building.

Maybe it was the novelty of seeing an ambulance stall on a downtown street that attracted a large crowd of spectators yesterday afternoon at Park avenue and Main street. The ambulance, which was from out-of-town, had a patient inside, but it was not an emergency case, so everything was all right again when a motorist got behind the stalled vehicle with his car and shoved it down the street to start it.

* * *

Mansfield basketball fans had a pretty good idea what a cannon sounds like today. At least the gun furnished Timekeeper Walter Willis for the purpose of marking the end of the quarters at last night's game between the Tygers and Columbus South sounded like a cannon in the school gymnasium. Not accustomed to hearing one, the startled crowd literally flew from its seats the first time Willis pulled the trigger. The shots failed to shock the Tygers, however. They won, 31 to 24.

Most of the Christmas legends that are familiar to Americans originated in Germany, the land which gave birth to the beloved figure of old Kris Kingle, and many of the Christmas songs—such as "Silent Night"—are of German origin. Because of this the Senior High German club will sing Christmas carols in German in various sections of the city during the week before Christmas, Richard Nixon, club adviser, said.

DIES AT AGE 62

Mrs. Mary Zimmerman Lived In City 40 Years.

Mrs. Mary L Zimmerman, 62, of 211 South Foster street, wife of Edward A. Zimmerman, died at her home yesterday after a brief illness.

Mrs. Zimmerman was born near Crestline, Sept. 25, 1877, and came to this city 40 years ago. She was a member of the St. John's Evangelical church and the ladies aid society of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Her husband, a son, Henry A, of Sandusky; two daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Allen and Mrs. George Percy of Mansfield; three brothers, Henry Minick of Tiro, Fred Minick of Crestline and John Minick of New Washington; a sister, Mrs. Elmer Smith of Crestline, and five grandchildren survive.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Monday with Rev. Paul Saleste of St. John's Evangelical church, assisted by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert of St. Paul Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

ILLNESS FATAL TO RESIDENT, 71

Santa and the TALKING DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Santa has a doll, Leezen, specially made by the fairies so that she can talk after midnight. She was made for the King of Westphalia, but Eric, the son of Lightning, has told Santa he wants Leezen.

Eric was left sitting alone at Leezen's feet. . . .

CHAPTER SIX
Running Away.

IT WAS mid morning next day when Eric, the son of Lightning, was heard again, piping a tune. Santa put down his hammer and watched him dance right into the Toyshop.

The fairies were so surprised they all fluttered up into the air. Gnomes came running and the doll that was as big as a lady, rubbed their eyes.

But one doll never looked at him at all. That was Leezen, the doll that was as bid as a lady, the one that had been made for the King of Westphalia. She stood with her eyes closed at the foot of the Christmas tree.

Eric danced right over to her and finished his tune on a few little notes running right up the scale. He stopped playing, bowed very low, and then laughed across the room at Santa.

"What — who — where?" whispered the toys around Santa's feet.

"That, my children, is the son of Lightning," said Santa to the Toyshop.

"O-o-o," said everyone, and they all fell back a little from the visitor as though they felt shy.

* * *

The Most Difficult Thing.

"And what, Sire, is the most difficult thing to do here?" asked Eric laughing boldly.

"Well," said Santa scratching his head, "the gnomes are making an electric train today. It's finished but it won't go."

"Where?" said Eric. Six little gnomes pointed without a word to the back of the Toyshop. "Oh," said Eric. He walked around the train looking. Then he laughed and beckoned Santa. "Look," he said. "The switch isn't thrown. But then it is dark here, and hard to see in this corner."

The six gnomes chuckled. One little fellow pushed over the switch and the train whizzed around the track.

"How, how did that happen?" said Santa.

"Why, I guess, Sire," said one little fellow, "we didn't rub the sleep out of our eyes very well this morning." They all blushed but Eric winked at them. Then he said, "Come, let me help make the next one." The gnomes shouted, "Certainly, we'll make this one in half the time."

So the six gnomes and Eric settled down to hammering out little trains, fitting wheels on to them, and painting them bright red. Eric made a specially fine whistle that blew a tune. But he kept glancing at the doll, Leezen, and finally he got up and went to sit at her feet.

"Dear, dear," he said, "this would be the nicest playmate of all if only she were awake. So there he sat all day playing sad little tunes on his flute. At dinner he scarcely ate, although Mrs. Santa coaxed him.

* * *

Time for Bed.

After dinner Santa tried to interest him in whittling little whistles. But Eric rose and started a slow dance around the Christmas tree. When the big clock in the corner struck ten Santa put down his knife, stretched and said, "To bed, everyone."

Dolls scurried to their cradles. Fairies folded their wings about them and went to sleep on branches of the Christmas tree. Gnomes went to their cave outside. And Santa snuffed out all the candles and went to bed. Eric was left standing alone at Leezen's feet.

Now Santa planned to wake again at midnight to take Leezen to the kingdom of Westphalia so he asked the moon to wake him. But when he woke Leezen was gone. This is what happened.

When the big clock began to strike twelve Eric began to play another sad little tune and as he did, he walked slowly backward toward the door, watching Leezen. Her eyes fluttered open, she heard Eric's song, she smiled and then she followed him slowly. H opened the door and stepped out into the snow. Leezen followed. Up and over the hills they went, and far away.

MONDAY Eric and Leezen save a poor girl.

NIPPON'S ARMY CHIEF IN CHINA GIVES WARNING

No Reason to Favor Americans In China If Trade Treaty Expires, Says General.

(By Associated Press)

TIENTSIN—Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma, commander of the Japanese army at Tientsin, declared today that Japanese-American relations, already "precarious," would reach the "most precarious point Jan. 26" with expiration of the trade treaty which the United States has denounced.

Taking the attitude he has gone out of his way to favor Americans, but that they have failed to appreciate this, General Homma said in an interview that if the treaty expiration were followed by poorer relations, "then I see no reason why I should discriminate in favor of Americans."

On the other hand, he said, if the United States shows a "conciliatory" attitude and opens negotiations for a new treaty, "conditions for Americans in North China will improve immediately."

The husky soldier, who acquired an Oxford accent when he was military attache in London, said he sees "no reason for a United States-Japanese war."

If an American embargo stops export of supplies to Japan, then Japan "must find them elsewhere," he observed, declining to specify the direction in which Japan might look.

"Nothing the United States can do," he asserted, "will affect Japan's determination to establish a new order in eastern Asia."

Americans recently have reported some improvement in their treatment at the barrier to the British and French concessions, blockaded by Japan since June. They said they were receiving sufficient coal for day-to-day use, but had no assurance the supply would continue.

Homma indicated special considerations for Americans would continue until Jan. 26, but expressed displeasure over a Tientsin American chamber of commerce report which charged interference with American trade and asked assistance of Washington.

FUNDS ASSURED

County Road Department Gets $17,500 In License Fees.

Richland county's road department was assured of operating funds for the remainder of 1939 today with the receipts of $17,500 in auto license fees from the state.

In addition to the county's allocation, Mansfield, Shelby and the county's villages received $5,925, making a total of $23,425.

County Engineer Howard C. Sword said the allocation is probably the last the county will get this year from motor vehicle license receipts. Today's allocation boosted the amount the county has received this year to more than $197,000. The budget called for about $200,000. Distribution of funds to cities and villages, made on the basis of motor vehicle registrations, includes:

Mansfield, $4,593; Shelby, $784; Lucas, $105; Shiloh, $100; Bellville, $68; Lexington, $41, and Butler, $34.

Not That It Matters

Finland's Case Ought to Make Us More Wary About Nazis, Reds In Our Midst

—By JANE WILLIAMS

THE DIES committee investigating un-American activities has had a lot of abuse and contumely heaped on it and has been hampered in many ways by the criticisms of the highest officials in the nation, including the Roosevelt family. The president is credited with trying, unsuccessfully, to put an end to the investigation during the last session of Congress.

The committee has repeatedly brought forth testimony showing that important officials in this country have Communistic leanings, and there has been a lackadaisical attitude of "what of it" on the part of the general public.

But the plight of the people of Finland certainly ought to be enough to snap the public out of that attitude.

Only because Finland was so devoted to democratic principles that Communists made practically no impression at all did the Russians have to alter the usual Communist-Nazi method of conquest—that of infiltration.

In other cases—Czechoslovakia, Danzig and Poland — Germany claimed persecution of German minorities as its excuse for attack. The minorities were planted ones, of course. That was the Nazi scheme, and the Communist scheme is no different.

In Finland's case, Russia wasn't able to gain that toe-hold of a persecuted minority. So it used the ridiculous subterfuge that the Finnish boundary was so close to Leningrad, the second city of Russia, that it constituted a menace to Soviet safety.

But the infiltration method is still preferred and Nazis and Communists in this country are here for a purpose, when the right time comes. The purpose is to seize power.

How many are there in this country that are waiting for the "break?" It was not difficult to dispose of Nazi Fritz Kuhn, yet for some unknown reason the disturbing Communist leaders not only continue their work unhampered but are actually welcomed as speakers in American communities. The word "liberalism" has been sucker-bait for many an American organization.

Even if we have no particular concern about our own future, at least we could express our sympathy for Finland by showing our scorn for every individual or concern with Communist leanings.

* * *

THERE are two sides to the Cleveland relief situation and many people outside of Cuyahoga county will see it from Governor Bricker's angle—that the county played horse with its WPA rolls for political purposes just before the election and now wants the other counties to take over its problem by contributing from the state fund. Other counties and cities are struggling to get along on a 50-50 state matching fund, and why can't Cleveland? The answer, contends Bricker, is in political boondoggling.

But what makes us all madder'n hops is Mayor LaGuardia of New York City kibitzing on the situation. With the worst slums in America and more people living miserable existences in his city, LaGuardia devotes his energies to a keep-chewing-gum-off-the-sidewalks campaign, and then has the cast-iron nerve to tell Ohio how to run its affairs.

Fiorella may be a Little Flower to New York City but he's just a crabapple to Ohio.

NEWS STORIES this week tell of Russian women being used as members of the crews for big bombing planes sent over Finland. One of the planes was shot down, carrying a woman with the crew. Men take our demands for equal rights too darn seriously. . . . Mr. Hitler is quoted as saying he has the means of keeping America out of the European war. Why hasn't he told us before and saved us all this worry? . . . Mr. Stalin's official Moscow radio station refers to him as "Stalin, the Blazing Sun of the Universe." In which case we might be smart to recall our American ambassador to Russia and send over Father "God" Divine.

THE PORTLAND OREGONIAN says that the camp song of the English soldiers is not "Tipperary" or "Madelone" but "South of the Border."

It doesn't make sense—English Tommies singing an American ditty along the Maginot line in France. But it isn't really as cockeyed as it seems. For the writers of "south of the border, down Mex-hee-co way" were never any nearer Mexico than Piccadilly. They are both English boys and neither was ever in America, while the tune is that of an old English ballad.

Charlie McCarthy's radio hour on Sunday nights is to be cut to a half hour after the first of the year, but this cloud has its silver lining. In cutting down the time, Dorothy Lamour will be eliminated from the program and thus will have more time for wearing sarongs. Which will be good news to those of us who are too utterly tired of hearing Dottie as well as to those who like to see her in a sarong.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Tells Why He Doesn't Leave Group Which He Says Has 'Red' Taint

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Roosevelt, who is a good deal of a joiner, has been writing about the perplexity of persons who enlist in this or that organization but later discovers that the organization is accused of being Communist or Fascist.

I know just how she feels, because several years ago I joined one which Mrs. Roosevelt also joined some time later, and, although she may not have noticed it, I have felt that the Communist influence has been very strong. I am one of those who loathe Communists. I suspect that Mrs. Roosevelt perceives a difference in favor of the Communists.

But I apprehend that Mrs. Roosevelt might accuse me of Communist sympathies because I have failed to dissociate myself from this organization, which is the American Newspaper guild, although I have long sensed a strong pull toward Communism in its official list. The masthead, so to speak, includes two officers out of five who are, to my satisfaction, either Communists or determined fellow-travelers, and a recognized authority on Communist personnel declares that another of our key officials—not the president—is an avowed Communist.

But as to the president of the guild—Heywood Broun—I feel that I am on positive ground. He has been called a fellow traveler and an outright Communist before the Dies committee. I will skip the question whether he is a fellow traveler or ever was, because I can quote from his own writing an affirmation which goes far beyond a mere expression of sympathy.

Broun, the president of the guild, wrote a piece on Aug. 26, last year, about a discussion with the late B. Charney Vladek on a train bound for a socialist convention in Chicago seven years ago. There were three opinions in the New York delegation. Some wanted a resolution condemning Moscow for betraying socialism. The moderates wanted to send fraternal greetings, with some footnotes about "mistakes which were being made." And there were also those who wanted to express comradeship without reservation. Broun, however, was against adding a slap in the face to a pat on the back in the greeting to Moscow.

* * *

Broun's affirmation came in the last paragraph that day. He denies that he is or ever was a Communist, but his last paragraph said:

"In six years my conviction has grown. Of course, mistakes have been made. And so I will not be fiddled, cajoled or harassed into attacking the greatest effort for human betterment which has been made in history."

What effort does that mean? That means Stalin's Moscow as of August, 1939—long after the brutal Ukraine famine, the deportation of millions of farmers and the routine slaughter of countless wretched, ordinary human beings. It means Soviet Russia after the "liquidations" of more recent date.

Mrs. Roosevelt may neatly ask why I haven't quit the guild if I feel so about it. It hasn't been for condonation of Communism. I can tell her. I know many who would like to quit. But these American newspapermen, family men, responsible men, citizens can't renounce an association which they hate because, under the guild constitution, the Wagner act and the labor relations board they might be robbed of all their professional advancement and barred for life from the only occupation they know.

LEADING CHOIR SINGERS JOIN FOR 'MESSIAH'

100 From City Churches to Present Famed Oratorio Tomorrow Evening.

The 10th annual presentation in Mansfield of Handel's famous Christmas oratoria, the "Messiah," will be given at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the First Presbyterian church by a chorus of 100 voices.

The chorus is comprised of directors, soloists and members of church choirs in Mansfield and nearby towns, and will be directed by Mrs. Claude F. Ewing, director of the Central Methodist church choir, sponsors of the event.

Presented in three parts, Prophecy, Nativity and Death and Resurrection, the oratorio portrays the life of Christ in music.

Six singers will be heard in solo numbers. Jane Weuthrich, soprano of First Presbyterian church will present, "And There Were Shepherds"; Helen Dickson, colorature soprano, "Rejoice Greatly"; Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, soprano soloist at First Congregational church, "Come Unto Him" and "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

Mrs. C. O. Anglin, director of First Presbyterian choir, "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings" and "He Shall Feed His Flock"; Emerson Bletz, tenor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted" and "Comfort Ye", and Herman Clingan, bass soloist of First Congregational church, "Thus Saieth the Lord" and "But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming."

Accompanying the singers will be Miss Elizabeth Burneson, organist of Central Methodist church and Mrs. A. L. Twitchell of First Presbyterian church.

Ministers of the sponsoring and host churches, Rev. David N. Roller of First Presbyterian and Rev. R. L. Foulke of Central Methodist, will assist in the service.

Final rehearsal of the chorus is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the First Presbyterian church.

SOCIAL WORKER SPEAKS

Miss Emily Fox, deaconess and superintendent of the Rebecca Williams Community House, Warren, will be guest speaker during the morning worship at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the First Methodist church.

Miss Fox will speak on social settlement work and the part a deaconess has in the community. For the service the women's chorus will sing "Cantique de Noel," by Adams, and the choir will present, "Bethlehem," by Bowker-Sticles.

"The Meaning of Christmas" will be the topic for discussion at a meeting of the Epworth League at 6:30 p. m. Sunday. John Pfahler will act as leader.

A Christmas party for young people of the church will be held in the parlors Dec. 15. A covered-dish dinner will be served at 6 p. m., followed by a program. Rev. Edward Marshall, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, will be guest speaker. He will speak on "Christmas and Youth." Rev. Avery Butler of Butler will lead the song service.

St. Patrick, favorite saint of the Irish, was a Roman born in Wales.

SERMON TOPIC

'God the Preserver of Man' Will Be Scientist Subject Sunday.

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore" (Psalms 121:8).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen" (II Timothy 4:18).

TALKS TO GROUP

Religious Education Teacher Speaks at Church.

"Religious Education in the Home," will be the subject of a talk by Miss Elsie Smith, religious education instructor in the public schools, before the Round Table discussion group of the First Congregational church at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Rev. Peter Young, pastor, will speak on "What Is There In the Bible?" at the 10:45 a. m. church service. Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine and Russell Tither will sing a duet for the offertory. Miss Louise Krause, organist, will present Pastorale from "Le Prologue de Jesus," and "The Virgin's Slumber Song" and "Noel Polonais" by Guilmant.

A panel discussion in which James Gilbert, Richard Anderson, Al Osborn and James Hugo will participate, will feature a meeting of the Youth Fellowship at 6:30 p. m. in the church library. Betty Smart is in charge of devotions.

A Christmas party for members of the High School Girls' class will be held Tuesday from 5 to 7:30 p. m. in the library, and the Pilgrim Guild will hold its Christmas luncheon at 1 p. m. Tuesday in the church parlors. Mrs. V. H. Lodde will present a play review, and Mrs. E. C. Flory is chairman of the hostesses.

REV. PAETZNICK, WIFE HONORED

SHELBY—Rev. and Mrs. M. P. Paetznick were honored Thursday night at a "Farewell" party given by the congregation of First Lutheran church at the church social rooms. Some 125 members were present.

Rev. Paetznick, assistant pastor of the Lutheran church for five years, recently received a call to the St. Paul's and Pleasant Valley Lutheran churches in the Lucas community and will leave Shelby with his wife next week.

EVANGELIST TO SPEAK

Mrs. Tamar Sterling, evangelist and missionary from India, will speak before the Sunday school of Branch No. 2 of the Christian and Missionary Alliance at 2 p. m. Sunday, meeting at the Mansfield Union Gospel Mission, 287 North Main street. She is also scheduled to speak during church services scheduled for 3 and 7:30 p. m. Her evening subject will be "They That Fear the Lord."

A Capella Group to Sing For Youth Emphasis Program Tomorrow.

Selections by the Senior high school A Cappella choir will feature the observance of "Youth Emphasis Sunday" tomorrow at the Park Avenue Baptist church during the worship service at 10:30 a. m.

The choir, directed by A. LeMoine Derr, instructor of vocal music in the public schools, will sing "Cherubim Song," by Galenka, and "Lullaby," by Ganschow. Lawrence S. Frank, minister of music, will present three organ numbers, "Prayer," by Humperdinck, "Berceuse," by Iljinsky and "The Pilgrim's Chorus," by Wagner. Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor, will speak on "Christians Are Different."

Young people of the church will meet at 6:30 p. m., with Kenneth Bennett as discussion leader. "Does It Pay to Be Popular?" will be discussed by the group. Marjory An Hawkins will discuss the recent young peoples' convention at Lima.

Three church groups are scheduled to meet next week. The Samaritan class will hold a covered-dish dinner Tuesday noon at the home of Mrs. Roy Crider. Monthly meeting of the Women's union is set for 10 a. m. Wednesday with children of the Friendly House giving the program. Lunch will be served at noon. A meeting of the Amoma class is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Friday at the home of Mrs. D. C. Cole, 228 Vennum avenue.

PRESENTS CHALK TALK

A. D. McKenzie, a member of the First Presbyterian church, will present a chalk talk as a feature of the Sunday school hour at 9:15 p. m. tomorrow. Music will be furnished by the Sunday school orchestra, directed by J. Merton Holcombe.

"That Prophet From Galilee," will be the subject Rev. David N. Roller will speak on during the church service at 10:30 a. m. The senior choir will sing "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord," by Garrett, and for the offertory Paul Watts will sing as a solo, "The Ninety and Nine," by Campion. Mrs. A. L. Twitchell, organist, will play "Pastoral," and "Postlude In F" by Guilmant.

The Woman's Service league of Grace church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Postance for the monthly business and social meeting.

UNIVERSAL BIBLE SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED IN CHURCHES HERE

At least two Mansfield churches tomorrow will join in the nation-wide observance of Universal Bible Sunday.

Services marking the occasion will be held at the First and St. Paul Lutheran churches. Observance of this special day in the churches throughout the state has been endorsed by Gov. John W. Bricker.

Universal Bible Sunday is sponsored by the American Bible Society, now in its 124th year. In urging the observance of Bible Sunday Gov. John W. Bricker said: "In these troubled days, when the thoughts of the world are on war, I feel it is especially appropriate that a special day be observed to center attention of all citizens on the Bible."

Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of St. Paul's church, will speak on "Shall We Continue to Be Free?" when his congregation observes the day at the 10:30 a. m. service.

Two St. Paul groups meet next week. Election of officers of the Guild will be held during a Christmas meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul E. Lee, 522 Forest avenue. Mrs. Gordon Schwan will present the devotions, and Carrie Emmons will report for the nominating committee. Mrs. Hugh Sturgeon will speak on "Men of Goodwill," when members of the Mary Markley society meets Thursday evening with Miss Lillian Damlos, 671 Springmill street.

"How We Got Our Bible," will be discussed by Rev. O. S. Goerner, assistant pastor of First Lutheran church, when that church holds its Bible service at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, speaks on "Gentiles Blessed Through the Jews" at the 9:45 a. m. service.

Paul Snyder, high school football coach, talks at the annual father and son dinner at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday. District 3 meets at 2 p. m. Wednesday with Mrs. H. B. Almy, 123 Rae avenue, District 7 convenes at 2 p. m. the same day in the parish house, and Florence Welty Missionary society meets at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the parish house.

Conducts Revival

R. L. Bartlett, evangelist of Electra, Texas, will begin a series of revival meetings tomorrow at the Glad Tidings Tabernacle, 259 Glessner avenue. He will be assisted by his wife. Services will continue nightly, except Saturday, at 7:45 for the next two weeks.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

CHRISTMAS day dawned cold and clear. At noon, when Fabienne Seymour awoke, the sun had melted the night's snow and splashed in broad golden beams into the bedroom where she lay.

In the first few moments of waking it seemed like any other day. Then her eye fell on the unopened packages in their bright wrappings and she realized that it was Christmas and she was all alone. Because she had never before been sorry for herself, she did not recognize the emotion that came over her.

* * *

Scampering across the floor to gather up those parcels and bring them back to her bed for opening, she had little interest for what she was doing. Even the sight of the handsome gifts—frocks from Gertrude in Paris, gloves and lingerie from the same source with the twins' names childishly scrawled on cards from Switzerland, a brocade evening bag from Dick, and a litter of small gifts from friends in New York—could not lift her from her depression.

She ordered breakfast and dressed hastily, trying on the frocks. One was a lovely thing, a froth of tulle the same pale gold as her hair. She was taking it off when the telephone rang the first time.

"Darling, it's Camilla," the voice said. "Whatever are you doing in New York? . . . and without waiting for an answer, "Ned saw you at midnight mass and I took a chance on calling you. . . . We're having a small party tonight. I want you to come in."

Fabienne looked at the golden gown and her spirits went up. "I'd love to," she said promptly.

"Do you want to come alone? Or will I have Ken Hemingway call for you?"

"I'll come alone," Fabienne said.

The party wasn't until late evening and the whole blank day stretched ahead of her, but now it didn't seem interminable.

The telephone rang again. It was Ellen to ask her for Christmas dinner.

Fabienne hesitated, thought of the things she wanted to remember from the night before, and declined with thanks. It would be better to be alone.

But what does a girl do when she is all alone on Christmas day?

Fabienne dressed in her smartest suit, slipped a silver fox cape over it, tilted a dashing hat over her brow, pinned on the corsage that Uncle Mark had wired to her, and ordered her car.

She was going to Willoughby house.

She parked the car a block away and let herself in the big front door. Contrary to what she had expected, no voices echoed through the halls. There was only Miss Porter there and two very old men, who dozed in the reading room.

All the world stayed at home on Christmas Day.

Fabienne went up to the office where she had left her work. Work was a panacea for loneliness.

She took off her hat and threw it on a chair with her fur cape. Then she sat down at her desk and took a folder of papers from the drawer. The letter from Anita Cheeseborough, which announced that she planned a gift of fifteen hundred dollars to the settlement house, lay on top of all the rest.

* * *

Fabienne put it aside. Ellen had told her that it's use would rest in Fabienne's hands. She had plenty of time today to consider it and she meant to.

"Hello, Miss Seymour!"

Surprised, Fabienne looked up to see little Rose Ricco standing in the office doorway.

"Hello, Rose. Merry Christmas! And what are you doing here today?"

Rose's eyes were rimmed with red. "The old man's raising hell, so I got out," she said with simple candor.

"Oh!" Shocked, Fabienne was unable to offer any comfort.

"So if there's anything I can do to help you, I'd be glad to. I ain't got anything else to do."

Acting on impulse, "Fabienne said, "You can keep me company, Rose. Have you had your Christmas dinner?

Rose gave her an eloquent glance and shook her head.

"Would you like to have it with me?"

"But—but—" Rose turned bright pink with pleasure.

"Come on, Rose. Get your hat. We'll go to a movie and then we'll have a real dinner with turkey and plum pudding and . . . and conversation."

The movie and the dinner, handsomely served in Fabienne's apartment, were a great success. Conversation was not so easily achieved, however. Rose, in the presence of unfamiliar surroundings, was stricken dumb with admiration and social embarrassment.

In an effort to find a common ground for talk, Fabienne said, "Rose, I want to ask you for some advice. We're going to have a gift of a few hundred dollars to spend at the house. We want to do something for young people like yourself. For both boys and girls. We thought of putting a removable dance floor over the cement floor in the gymnasium. What do you think of the idea?"

Rose's coal black eyes danced. "You know what I think, Miss Seymour? It would be swell if we had a real little theater! Not just the auditorium. But a place where we could have real shows and dramatic clubs and things like that. Anyway, the gym is too small to make much of a dance floor and it ain't cosy there. But if you had a theater and could take seats out? Gee, a lot of the kids in our neighborhood would like to be actors. You know real prize fighters and real artists started from classes and if we had . . ."

Fabienne's enthusiasm took fire at once. "Rose, you may have a wonderful idea there! And tonight I'm going to see what can be done about it. You're a bright little girl."

Ken Hemingway would be at Camilla's party and Ken was an architect.

Ken would be delighted to go down to Willoughby house the next morning and give her an estimate after looking over the layout, he told her when she explained her idea.

There were four rooms on the top floor that would make an ideal little theater. They could knock out walls—

Ellen joined Fabienne and Ken in their enthusiastic exploration.

"It would cost about two thousand," Ken estimated.

"We could make up the extra five hundred somehow," Fabienne promised. "We're getting fifteen hundred. How soon could we begin?"

Two days later, when Ken brought hastily drawn plans down to Willoughby house, Ellen had to tell them that they could not manage it. Mrs. Cheeseborough was very sorry, but she found that she would have to postpone her gift for an indefinite time.

Apologetically, Fabienne told sixteen-year-old Rose that their fine plan had fallen through.

* * *

Rose was to play a more important part in her life than she realized. The girl was a living symbol of the responsibility that Fabienne had taken on, for all that she thought that she could give only what and when she wished to give.

The high-spirited girl who had gone to work in a settlement house to pay off her resentment toward her mother was developing into a woman who could never again consider herself apart from her fellow human beings. Their troubles were to be forever after her own.

She knew it the night that she went out with Drusilla and Tommy Ryan.

"Let's go see jitter-bugs!" Drusilla proposed after a dull movie. "There's a cheap dance hall over in the Fifties they say is a real dive. Shall we?"

It sounded amusing. Fabienne thought it was until she saw Rose Ricco, with a highball in her hand, sitting between two Filipino boys.

She went directly to the table where the girl sat and said, "Rose, go home. You don't belong here."

Rose's cheeks were bright and her eyes were defiant. "Beat it," she said thickly. "Go home where you belong, Mrs. Silver Foxes! I gotta have some fun, don't I? It's my own business what I do, ain't it? This is no settlement house. I do what I like here. Scram."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1939.

Drive carefully tomorrow—this year's quota of traffic accidents has already been exceeded.

So many things have been happening in Europe that it has been difficult to remember to dislike Japan.

A Hollywood item which each must read for himself is to the effect that a sea picture intended as a B picture may be released as an A picture.

To Relieve Distress In Finland

APPEAL for contributions to a fund intended to provide quick relief to the people of Finland, many of whom have been made homeless and destitute by the invasion of Red Russia, strikes a sympathetic chord throughout America.

There was no time, in an emergency such as this, to formulate and carry through a slow-moving plan to secure voluntary contributions from all over the country and it is typical of Herbert Hoover's efficiency in administering war relief in Belgium during the World war, that he should hit upon the only possible way to inaugurate the Finnish relief project in every city in the United States in a single day—through the newspapers.

Recognizing this as unusual procedure, justified by the urgent need for immediate action, The News-Journal joins in what it believes will be a very general response to Mr. Hoover's appeal, feeling confident that he and those who will be associated with him in administering this fund will find ways to use every dollar contributed for actual relief work in Finland, with practically no overhead cost.

"I fully realize the present needs of many of our own people," said Mr. Hoover in his appeal for Finnish relief, "and also the needs of the Polish people as well, the committee of which I am also a member. I would not wish any contributions to this fund for Finland to lessen the support of all these needs. But in this time of our sorrow and sympathy for the plight of Finland, Americans should also make sacrifices for them."

For Mansfield and vicinity, The News-Journal has volunteered to receive and forward all local contributions to this fund. Contributions will be acknowledged through the paper and may be brought to The News-Journal office any weekday between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. Checks should be made payable to the Finnish Relief Fund and sent in care of The News-Journal.

Increase In Traffic Fatalities

SUCH a traffic accident as that which occurred on West Third street Thursday evening, in which an elderly woman lost her life, possesses an element of pathos not always associated with motor fatalities.

Here was the case of a 74-year-old woman attempting to cross the street in front of her own home, to make a neighborly call, meeting violent death without having appeared to realize possible danger.

The high percentage of pedestrian deaths in the total of traffic fatalities emphasizes the need for greater care on the part of persons crossing streets or walking in streets or on highways and it is a noticeable trait of some older persons to disregard this danger.

Apparently not applicable in this instance, according to official investigation, there is also the habit, among some motorists, of driving at illegally high speed on residence streets in Mansfield, it being quite uncommon on West Third street, for instance, to find a motorist conforming to the prescribed 25-mile-an-hour speed limit from Mulberry street west.

Except for sporadic activity, there has been little indication of interest in traffic law enforcement in Mansfield, particularly as related to excessive speed on residence streets, disregard of stop signs and failure to observe traffic lights.

Increase in the number of traffic fatalities in city and county this year, and consideration of the large number of minor accidents involving injuries, point to the need for greater recognition of responsibility on the part of motorists and better-defined policies of continuous enforcement of traffic regulations.

More Jobs Needed Now

WHY, with so much re-employment and so much talk of business getting better, are there still so many people out of work?

"It is possible that we have been using wrong words," writes John W. Love, business columnist, who recently visited Mansfield. "Some people may think of industrial recovery as a condition achieved, rather than as a continuing change. Perhaps we ought to use the word convalescence. Industry and business have not recovered. They have only been getting better."

The chief reason for misunderstanding this situation is wrong use of figures in reckoning the amount of employment. It isn't enough merely to re-employ as many as had jobs ten years ago. Life moves on, and new millions grow up and need jobs.

Thus there are said to be 4,000,000 more people now grown up and waiting work than there were in 1929, and these millions will have to find some form of employment through expansion of needs for various kinds of productive work if the nation is to establish economic soundness.

Simplified Thinking

WILLIAM L. WHITE, on a listening tour of Europe, told in a recent article what a young German he met on a train bound for Berlin thought of the United States.

The German had traveled in America for a chemical firm. He considered it a marvelous country and greatly admired its technical development, hotel service and other "fine things." But he did not approve of American newspapers.

"It was very confusing," he said. "So many papers—so many opinions! I did not know what to think. In Germany there is no such confusion. The government first decides how the people should think and instructs the newspapers. It is much better that way. Then people are not confused."

Maybe it's better that way, but it takes an outlook on life not possessed by Americans to believe it. In this particular field we really prefer confusion. We'd rather make a few wrong decisions than be compelled to carry out the wrong decisions—or even the right ones—of a dictator.

Word comes of an Arkansas couple who, two years ago, named their fifteenth child "Finis," and are now blessed with twins—which evidences the ineffectiveness of higher education.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You know how it is when you see something that impresses you, and you want to do it yourself. It sticks in the back of your mind until you finally make up your mind to go ahead. It was that way with Crepes Suzettes. I had watched George make them so often that one night he said, "Why don't you learn to make them yourself? They're very easy; I'll teach you."

George is a very special friend of mine. Chafing dishes, cafe brulot, things like that are a specialty with him. I think his Crepes Suzettes are the best I ever tasted. As a crowning treat to friends when they come to town, I sometimes take them over to see George at the Hotel Lexington, and have him make Crepes Suzettes for them.

There is something fascinating to the blue-glow flame of burning brandy, in dim lit rooms. It is an impressive ceremony—almost a ritual. I often pictured myself rising some night and saying casually to friends, "Shall we have some Crepes Suzettes," and then just as nonchalantly edifying them with the spectacle of me there with all the fascinating paraphernalia of copper burning and stand and all that goes with it, turning out tempting and unforgettable things. Maybe that's the defeated actor in me. . . . "They laughed when I got out the Crepes Suzettes pan." . . .

* * *

IN ANY case, George was a sympathetic benefactor. He wrote out the recipes for the batter and for the sauce. He went over each step, from the orange blossom water to the triangular folds of the cakes themselves. Then I went to see Ray J. Kief, who is a friend of mine, and I said, "Ray, I want to make some Crepes Suzettes, and I want to buy one of those things that they make them in. I can't find them."

"You get those at wholesale houses that feature hotel equipment," he said. "I'll get it for you"—which he did, by a telephone conservation. And presently I was on my way downtown to a wonderful place where everything is made of solid copper, except the pan itself, which is triple-silver plated.

* * *

I SUPPOSE the rest of the story should deal with the completion of the adventure. But it didn't work out that way — not exactly. I think I lack the necessary restraint that makes for surprises. I couldn't wait until late in the evening, and suggest, in an off hand manner, that perhaps Crepes Suzettes would be a good idea. I couldn't wait until the proper time and then simply get out this new doodad and go into my act. I had to yell, "Look what I got. Just got it today. It's heavy as lead. It's solid copper. Look. Take a look at this pan."

But anyway, everyone was properly enthusiastic. They were most polite. They said the Crepes Suzettes were wonderful. The only thing I left out was the pinch of salt.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Dec. 9, 1919.

Mayor H. G. Brunner and City Law Director Van C. Cook were in Columbus conferring on gas rates.

Chamber of Commerce warned against questionable stock offerings from out-of-town concerns.

"Up In Mabel's Room" was road show attraction at Opera House, with top price $2, plus war tax.

Harry Flasher, deputy county surveyor, left on motor trip to Florida.

Gift of $2,000 from "charitable Mansfield woman" was announced by General hospital.

"Aunt Maggie's Will" was presented by girls of E. T. club at Trades Council hall.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Dec. 9, 1934.

Lieut. LeRoy Coffey of the Mansfield Police department, was licensed as a lay minister at ceremonies at Park Avenue Baptist church.

Will G. Herrold was named superintendent of South Main Evangelical Sunday school for the 28th consecutive year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harmon and son, Russell, left for Miami, Fla., to spend the winter.

Mrs. George Steffey, 64, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hobart Cashell, South Main street.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Benson, and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Watson, at General hospital.

LOOK OUT AHEAD!

Dewey to Attack Incompetency

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—"Turn the rascals out"—the political war cry our fathers used to love—is going to be the slogan of the Thomas E. Dewey presidential campaign, if a close adviser is to be believed.

More accurately it will be "Turn the incompetents out." Or, as some of his boosters—but never Dewey himself—are going to say: "Turn the crackpots out."

The point of the whole matter is that Dewey is not going to fire broadsides at the New Deal objectives, or even the New Deal accomplishments. He is merely going to say that they are noble in purpose but incompetently administered——that they should all be revised, slightly, with a view to making them work more smoothly, and that most important of all is to get men in office who will administer them intelligently.

* * *

A VERY shrewd old political sideliner—who has contributed to help many hundreds of candidates of his party for various office but has never run for office himself—told the writer that this Dewey idea of a campaign is more calculated to win, in his humble judgment than that of any other Republican contestant.

What lends interest to the statement just made is that the sideliner in question does not want the Republicans to win—never had and never will. His father fought in the Confederate army and he still talks about "Yankees" and "reconstruction" and "carpet baggers."

But sometimes this sideliner reminds the writer of the Southerner in the anecdote who was complaining that the New Deal was ruining the country. After he had held forth to his Northern visitor for half an hour about the iniquities of the Roosevelt administration, the Northerner asked him how he intended to vote in the new election.

"I'm going to vote for Roosevelt, of course," said the Southerner, "but if you damn Yankees don't stop electing him you are going to ruin this country."

The point being that the old sideliner in question seemed dead set, in a recent conversation, on getting the strength of Dewey advertised.

"I hope the Republicans don't nominate him," he said finally, "for I am afraid he would lick us no matter who we put up."

His voice did not sound worried. It sounded hopeful.

* * *

BUT one runs into very different reactions from dyed-in-the-wool New York Republicans—not the political leaders, who seem mostly to be for Dewey, but the big contributors in downtown New York. Maybe some of them are for the New York district attorney, but most of those the writer has encountered would rather have a Democratic president—provided of course it is somebody like John Nance Garner or Jesse H. Jones.

There is a strong impression in downtown New York, to put it mildly, that Dewey is pretty nearly as radical as the New Deal. The Big Business boys want the old-time religion. They don't want any compromisers! So they don't want Dewey. They might have been for Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, but they didn't like his stand against repeal of the arms embargo.

Which would seem to drive them to Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, but their fear here is that Taft is such a poor speaker that he might not be able to win the election even if he were nominated.

That is why you are going to hear more and more about Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio. The Big Business boys are admittedly the most easily fooled people in the world in politics. Remember how they thought Alfred M. Landon was going to be a whirlwind? This is no reflection on Bricker, incidentally. The fat boys are only listening to their scouts as to him. Maybe they won't like him either by convention time!

Timely Editorial

No Example in Capital.

We note a complaint by Rep. Dies that notwithstanding the nation's scientific and industrial progress, and the multitude of college graduates, we have wholly failed to teach our boys and girls what it means to be an American.

Maybe that is so, and certainly neither Washington in general nor congress in particular has been providing any corrective aid in the matter.

For the last half dozen years the congress of the United States has carefully omitted setting any general example of intelligent patriotism for young people of the country to either observe or follow.

The generallly cheap and wretched state of the public service in the national capital is one of the main causes of whatever blight has fallen on the ideals and standards of young Americans.—Detroit Free Press.

Listen, World!

Too Much Clutter and Clatter.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I REMEMBER how sharp and clear life seemed those years in the mines.

We were so poor that our days held only a few things. They were like the desert place in which we worked. There were hardly any trees in that place, no messy tangles of undergrowth to blue the earth. Only the wide sweep of bare soil and empty air, with the mountains rising, clean and naked, against the distant sky. It was such a scene as a child might draw with a few simple strokes. The days were like that—

Each day was alike. The quick rising at dawn in the rough, uncarpeted rim where the sweet air poured unhindered through the broken window. The rasp of harsh water, coarse flannel, spiked boots on sleepy flesh. The smell of coffee, beans and bacon, eaten hastily — oiled leather, sweat-caked shirts. The long walk to the mines, three miles, with the early light clinging like a wet web to the dark ground, and the killdees calling from the dry arroyos.

Then the long hours of labor through which one moved mechanically, in the dark tunnels where the light passed like a fumbling hand across the dripping face of the rock . . . or working on top, where the heat clanged carelessly, dwarfing everything, withering men into crawling husks.

Then the walk back through the evening—silently, in file like weary animals—with the scorched earth relaxing and the slow, painful quickening of numb mind and flesh. The blue lights along the narrow street . . . the sound of men laughing, children calling in the twilight . . . the sleepy clamor of birds settling in the old cypress or on the crumbling, moss-grown walls.

Then a quiet space, with the hills slipping silently in their great sweep beneath the stars—and the night wind whispering between the pale, green gravestones—and the coyotes gathering in a yammering pack along their hunting trail. And once more—sleep.

So plain and bare, all of it. Yet, because of that very fact, each happiness had an importance, a distinct flavor and meaning, such as there can never be in city life. For in cities one actually lives very little. One skims life, touching only its swift and jumbled surfaces. But in the desert things come so slowly, so sparsely that one gets everything out of each experience that it has to give.

Simple sensations become important events. The feel of moistened, yielding earth after harsh rainless months is ecstacy. That one is enough to fill the day and the heart with quiet rapture.

No coyotes bedding down in a rocky niche, lived more gauntly than we. There were none of those small niceties which city folk consider necessities. It was years before I could again become accustomed to the complicated clatter and clutter of "civilized life." I still rebel against its meager sensations. So much happening outside, so little inside—one lives in a blur.

Never since has existence seemed so full of flavor and meaning. In a strange, sad way I feel that I am starving. Life is so full of things, the struggle for things, the service to things, that there is no time left to feel anything.

I wonder if that isn't what ails most Americans today. We are like hungry children seated at a great feast—gloating, snatching, nibbling—then hurried along before we can satisfy ourselves.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Circumstances Alter Cases."

The story, much better than we can make it read, is to the effect that Edmund Plowden, noted Elizabethan barrister, once withdrew his advocacy from the client he was defending and in the midst of the trial, represented the other side.

Questioned by the court for this strange proceeding, he is recorded to have justified it by the statement:

"Circumstances alter cases."

Is this how it started? So they say.

Assuming, but not, as the lawyers say, conceding that the anonymous "they" are right the phrase "Circumstances alter cases" did not really get into general circulation until much later.

What certainly contributed in full measure to the vogue of the line was its appearance in the widely read The Old Judge by the beloved nineteenth century author and jurist, Thomas Chandler Haliburton.

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

FOR a thousand years, since wars of long-forgotten origin drove them north from central Russia, a hardy folk called Finns have hoed, hacked and hewn a living from the stony, pine-forested land of 60,000 lakes that separates the Baltic sea and Arctic ocean.

Conquered and Christianized by the Swedes in 1157 and overrun by Russians in 1710, Finland was split between her two neighbors in 1721. In 1809 Russia took over the whole district by force and, from 1899, tried to crush its culture into the Russian mold.

But 22 years ago this week, after the abdication of Czar Nicholas II, the Finns proclaimed their independence. Civil war followed between Reds and Whites. In 1918, aided by German troops, the Whites drove the Reds back into Russia. On July 17, 1919, Finland set up shop as a republic.

This week, in Europe's third war in three months, Finns again were battling Russian invaders. "This war," their commander declared and vowed, "is nothing but the continuance and the final act in our war for liberty." Its shots rang 'round the world.

Finnish troops, though backing into pillboxes well behind the frontier in the southeast, indicated they were holding better than outsiders had expected against the Russian drive at most points along the 800-mile eastern front from the Arctic to the Gulf of Finland.

The Reds, however, announced steady advances. On the Karelian Isthmus north of Leningrad, they said Thursday, they had broken through the main Finnish line.

Retreat From Geneva.

A clue to Russia's plans was seen in her speedy recognition of a "people's government" of Finland headed by an exiled Finnish communist, Otto Kuusinen, and established — Moscow maintained— last week-end in a Finnish border town that Helsinki said still was held, at the time, by Finnish loyalists.

With Kuusinen and associates, the Kremlin promptly concluded a mutual assistance pact that would give Russia all she asked for in fruitless negotiations with Finland last month—1,530 square miles north of Leningrad, some islands in the Gulf of Finland, some land in the Arctic and a 30-year lease on Hangoe Peninsula, site of Finland's "Gibraltar of the Baltic"; in return for $8,400,000 and 27,000 square miles of land north of Lake Ladoga.

"The Red army," an official Moscow paper announced, "acts in Finland on the invitation of the people's government." Thus, Russians argued, the Soviet Union was "not in a state of war with Finland" and would not, therefore, show up at League of Nations meetings called for this week-end and next week to act on Finland's demand for "necessary measures to put an end to this aggression."

At Home

Relief Rumpus.

The Ohio relief situation this week served as a grim reminder to American taxpayers that they are helping to support every eighth person in the land—and that this costs more than it once cost, in the memory of persons now on tax or relief rolls, to run the whole government.

In Cleveland, where business was booming, scavenging and begging boomed too. As the week began, 12,000 persons cut from local relief rolls were living on flour and apples, surplus commodities furnished by the U. S. Forty-six thousand more, Mayor Harold H. Burton said, were living on "two-thirds rations." And the city faced, by Dec. 31, a $1,200,000 relief deficit.

In Toledo, an official found 2,000 families "limited to food they get through relatives and neighbors." The deficit there was $900,000. Dayton expected to be $43,000 in the red by year's end. The only funds in sight were possible receipts from the sale of bonds against anticipated collection of delinquent or future taxes.

In a merry-go-round of buck-passing, Ohio's hungry blamed city officials, cities blamed the state—and the state blamed (1) relief chiselers, (2) failure of cities to "shoulder their own burden," (3) federal "political manipulators."

To ease the situation, Uncle Sam expanded WPA rolls and rushed surplus commodities.

War and Prices.

Soon after Europe fell to blows, President Roosevelt asked the temporary national economic committee (alias monopoly committee) to "keep a constant eye" on prices to prevent war profiteering. This week the committee began a public inquiry.

Noting scattered price rises since Sept. 1, Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, warned that the country had no assurance the trend would not continue and spread. "If this happens," he added, "we must expect an increase in the cost of living and a demand for increased wages by labor. Out of it all will come the same serious economic repercussions that we witnessed 20 years ago."

* * *

Labor and the Law.

The Sherman anti-trust law of 1890 prohibits combinations in restraint of trade in interstate commerce. Does it apply to labor unions? In five of six cities where Uncle Sam is fighting the high cost of building with anti-trust charges, union leaders have been indicted with contractors. And Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, No. 1 trust-buster, recently listed examples of union activity that he considered illegal.

But William Green, AFL president, called Arnold's interpretation "a grave perversion of the law" and argued that a subsequent act of congress exempted unions from the anti-trust statute. He was answered this week by Attorney General Frank Murphy. Asserting that the supreme court had ruled labor organizations subject to the Sherman act, Murphy refused to interfere with Arnold's probe.

Youth Serves Itself.

A steer fed by a 14-year-old girl won the grand championship at last year's International Live Stock exposition in Chicago. And this year, at the 40th annual show this week, that prize was awarded to a Hereford calf owned by Mayfield Kothmann, 18, of Mason, Tex. The hog-feeding prize went to an Indiana boy of the same age.

"Wheat king" of the 21st annual International Grain and Hay show, held in conjunction with the livestock exposition, was Francis Rigby, 21, of Wembley, Alberta, Canada. The oats crown went to his neighbor, Bill Skladan, and the corn crown to C. E. Troyer, of La Fontaine, Ind.

* * *

Double Check-Up.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as a spectator, attended Dies committee hearings last week-end at which American Youth congress leaders denied Reds ran their organization. This week the First Lady revealed she had made her own investigation of the AYC—long before Rep. Dies undertook the job—and found "nothing to indicate outside control."

* * *

Tiger Woman.

Headlines dubbed her the "Blonde Tigress" when, eight years ago, Winnie Ruth Judd killed her two best friends and shipped their bodies from Arizona to Los Angeles in trunks. A jury saved her from hanging by judging her mad. This week, for the second time in two months, she escaped from a state hospital at Phoenix. Last time, she hid in a cemetery and a corn field on the hospital grounds until caught, after six days, when she entered a hospital building in search of food.

A Night Out.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Lewis, wealthy New Yorkers, complained to Magistrate Henry C. Curran that a construction project near their apartment shattered their sleep and made them a bundle of nerves. Go have yourselves a fine dinner and spend the night in a good hotel, he told them—"and bring me the bill." They did: $65.32.

In Father's Footsteps.

On the 93d day of war in western Europe, and the 25th anniversary of his father's first World war review of Tommies in France, George VI bounced across the English Channel in a naval destroyer to inspect the new British Expeditionary force.

There was little to see but mud and morale. Communiques from both sides told an old story: Minor skirmishing . . . local activity of units in contact . . . reciprocal artillery action . . . raids, all of which failed . . . no special events."

In Short

Convicted: 25 more persons, of conspiracy in the Minneapolis WPA strike riots last July.

Increased: The Indian population of the U. S., in the last fiscal year, from 342,497 to 351,878.

Retired: Boy movie soprano Bobby Breen, at 12, because his voice is changing.

Murdered: Dr. Walter Engelberg, a secretary at the German consulate in New York, clubbed to death in his sleep.

Sentenced: Stephen Paine, New York banker, to a year and a day, for conspiring to loot three investment trusts of $1,000,000.

Died: Lorin Wright, brother of the airplane inventors; J. Butler Wright, U. S. ambassador to Cuba; Ernest Sutherland Bates, writer; Mrs. Cornelius J. Sullivan, art patron.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Not By Running Away.

How foolish then to try to run
From life, naught comes of it;
Not an escape, life must be lived,
Lived daily, bit by bit.

Where can you go and leave behind
Your knowledge of the ill,
Or grief or fear you would avoid?
You may by force of will

Remove your thought from it, but it
Will still be just as true.
Life holds us ever in her hands,
Her paths we must pursue.

TWO GUESTS POUR AT ART STUDY CLUB TEA

Mrs. Theodore Frank Presents Paper on Towers Before Group; Christmas Meeting Scheduled for Women's Club.

MRS. WALTER OBER and Mrs. J. Clarke Custer, guests of the Art Study club at the Susie Janis home yesterday, poured tea when refreshments were served from an appropriately decorated table. Hostesses for the meeting which was attended by 30 members were Mrs. Richard Fensch, Mrs. Leonard Nigh and Mrs. Frank Leavitt.

During the business meeting the organization made a contribution to the current Salvation Army drive Mrs Theodore Frank presented the paper entitled "Memorial and Church Towers." She mentioned the Box tower at Mountain Lake, Fla, as an example of the carrillon type, the New York avenue Presbyterian church in Washington, D. C., under the church division, and the Edison Memorial tower in New York City. The paper was illustrated.

Plans were made at this time for the club Christmas party and gift exchange. The affair will be at the Women's Club with Mrs. Herman Homberger, Mrs Andrew Theiss and Mrs. George Cairns as hostesses Dec. 22.

Name Counselor For Lodge Unit

Mrs Alice Mae Hunter was elected counselor of the Lady Grafield council No. 24, Daughters of America, Friday night during a meeting of that organization in the Eagle hall. Mrs. Theodosia Watts will be the associate counselor, Mrs. Clara Hicks, the junior past counselor, and Mrs. Alice Jenkins, the associate junior past counselor.

Miss Ida Hunter was named vice counselor, with Mrs. Arbie Kimes to assist her as associate vice counselor. Mrs Sarah Case is the conductor, and Mrs Julia Grandstaff, the warden. Mrs. Lucy DeWitt has been chosen assistant recording secretary, while the sentinels are Mrs. Ethel Davenport, inside, and Mrs. Hattie Kennedy, outside. Mrs. Grandstaff is also the trustee.

On Dec. 22, the council will have a Christmas party and exchange of gifts following the business session at the Eagle hall.

SORT BOOKS.

Members of the Library committee of the Women of the Moose sorted books recently when they met with Mrs Pauline Shively, 15 Lida street. They sent several volumes to a friend in the Mt Vernon hospital, and planned to send boxes of miscellaneous gifts to both Mooseheart and Moosehaven The next meeting will be Jan 8 with Mrs Mabel Keller, Wood street.

* * *

HAS PARTY.

Mrs. Gilbert Farst feted her son, William, with a birthday dinner party yesterday evening at the family home in Lexington. The five guests in attendance presented the host with gifts in honor of the occasion. The dinner table was decorated with pink and white appointments and two lighted birthday cakes. The group attended a basketball game later in the evening

Elect Class Officers At Supper Meeting

There were 70 members and guests of the Pastor's class of St. Luke's Lutheran church present in the church basement for a covered-dish dinner and Christmas party last night. The long tables were decorated with red candles and Christmas trees, and each child was presented with a gift by Santa Claus.

During the business meeting J A. Willard was elected president, Kenneth Curl was named vice-president, and Mrs. Arthur Wheatley was elected secretary. The remainder of the evening was spent socially.

OPENS HOME.

Mrs Harold Stickrod, 16 Jeanette street, opened her home to 10 members of the Get-Together club Thursday when games were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Johnson, Miss Louise Schropp and Miss Mary Hostetter The hostess served luncheon The next meeting will be held Dec 22 with Mrs. Martha Marcoff entertaining at the home of Mrs. Jennie Hostetter, Belmont avenue.

Home Circle Has All-Day Session At Park Pavilion

Members of the Mothers Home circle brought food for welfare baskets to the North Lake park pavilion when they held their regular meeting Friday with Mrs. Irene Hines, president, in charge. A covered-dish dinner was served at noon, and the members completed a large quilt, five large and three small comforts and 25 garments

Following the presentation of the welfare report a Christmas program was directed by Mrs. Helen Hart. Readings were given by Mrs. John Barr, Mrs. C. C. Vermilya. Mrs. Martha Garver and Mrs. Myrtle McCready.

A vocal duet was given by Mrs. Mayme Fankhauser and Mrs. Pearl Hainer with Mrs. William Gressmer accompanying. Mrs. Gressmer led group singing, and Miss Grace Finical played.

The next meeting will be held at the park pavilion Jan. 12 with Mrs. Essie Bell, Mrs Harry Manner, Mrs. McCready, Mrs Walter Lawrence, Mrs. Blanche Heston and Mrs. Frank Marlow in charge.

Omega Tau Gamma Plans For Dance

Mrs Robert P. Darling entertained members of Omega Tau Gamma yesterday evening at her home, 18 West Augustine avenue. Plans for a dance to be held in the near future were formulated, and the club program for the year was started. Secret Pals were revealed in an exchange of Christmas gifts. Mrs. Carl Stehle and Mrs. H. A. Kibler, guests for the evening, were also presented with gifts.

Pinochle and bridge were in play, with high score prizes going to Mrs. William Maglott and Mrs. Frederick Antrican. After the games, a two-course luncheon was served at the small tables, which were centered with red and green candles trimmed with holly.

Mrs Vincent Foote has invited the group to her home in Bellville for the meeting of Jan 12. Officers will be elected at that time, Secret Pals chosen and new members welcomed into the club.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, December 10.

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds promise for furthering the interests and attaining worthy ambitions by placating or attracting superiors, elders or those in influential positions But in all such aims shun impetuous, contentious or angry approach. Cultivate harmony and good will rather than aggressiveness.

Those whose birthday it is may have an opportunity for gaining the preferment and good will of those in high places by means of tact, conciliation and amiability rather than strife and impetuosity. Shun pitfalls and malice by being gracious, generous and understanding.

A child born on this day may be energetic, self-willed, impulsive and over-aggressive in putting over its ends when finesse and courtesy would better serve. Inherently it has such social graces which should enhance its success.

For Monday, December 11.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for stability, security and sound growth, to be obtained by means of hard work, industrious application and sound judgment. These may be required to escape pitfalls, schemes or undercurrents, possibly sinister and unsuspected. But the mentality is equal to this and the impulses worthy. Accordingly, there should be enduring good wrested from treachery and wile.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year crowned by success and just reward for merit, probity and diligence, probably in the face of duplicity, schemes, plots and malice. Be alert to these and exercise your own fine mentality and sterling qualities should quicksands threaten.

A child born on this day may be industrious, persevering, willing and reliable, yet it may be disposed to use strategy or easy methods if forced to the wall.

Making Nature Scrapbooks At Club Luncheon

—News-Journal Photo.

There is no season of the year when parties are more to the front than during the month of December when every club and organization, large or small, has a party. Members of the Audubon club were entertained Tuesday at the home of Mrs H M. Spandau, Shepard road, with a luncheon Six of the women are shown above as they were working on nature scrapbooks to be given to children this Christmas. Mrs. Ervin Cutting, Mrs. B. R. Ahrendt and Miss Josephine Doolittle are pictured seated, left to right, before the table. Standing in the background are Mrs Olive E. Frey, Mrs. W. R. Hainer and Mrs Ruth Orcutt, reading left to right.

THEATERS

"Day-Time Wife."

When a husband begins working late at the office with a good-looking secretary to keep him company, it is only natural for the wife to be suspicious. That's just what Linda Darrell does when her husband, portrayed by Tyrone Power, finds it practically impossible to leave his office before midnight How his wife manages to "break the habit" forms the plot of "Day-Time Wife," which opens today at the Ohio theater, and runs through Tuesday, with a midnight showing tonight The cast also includes Warren William, Binnie Barnes, Wendy Barrie and Joan Davis.

* * *

"Meet Dr. Christian."

That character of the radio script, Dr. Christian, comes to the Madison theater today with Jean Hersholt in the title role he dramatizes on the radio. The story concerns the events and people of a small Minnesota town, with Hersholt portraying the thoughtful and humanitarian physician. In the supporting cast are two newcomers, Patsy Lee Parsons and Dorothy Lovett, and Enid Bennett, star of silent days, who has been in retirement for the past ten years The other picture on the bill is "Eternally Yours," featuring Loretta Young, David Niven, Hugh Herbert, Billie Burke, C. Aubrey Smith and Zazu Pitts.

* * *

"The Star Maker."

One of Bing Crosby's best pictures, "The Star Maker" returns to Mansfield for a three-day showing at the Ritz theater, beginning Sunday. In this, Bing's latest, he sings many of the outstanding songs of yesteryear, as well as several new ones, and is assisted by a group of talented youngsters The story is closely patterned after the life of Gus Edwards, noted star of the vaudeville era. Also in the cast are Linda Ware, Ned Sparks, and Walter Damrosch, who makes his screen debut as conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra. The other picture is a screen adaptation of Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

* * *

"Way Down South."

Bobby Breen, Eddie Cantor's singing protegee, is the star of the Park theater's week-end offering, "Way Down South," which opens a three-day engagement Sunday. As the name implies, it is a story of plantation life against a background of spirituals, sung by Bobby and the Hall Johnson choir. Among the musical numbers Bobby sings are "Louisiana," "Good Ground," "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child," and several other popular ballads of the south. The other half of the double-bill offering is Arlene Whelan, Gordon Oliver and Charles Grapewin in "Sabotage."

* * *

"Maisie."

Robert Young is presented in the first Western of his career as the ranch manager, and Ann Sothern appears as Maisie, the honky-tonk showgirl, in "Maisie," which comes to the Majestic theater Sunday for a two-day showing Although the story has its setting in the West, there is nothing of the horse opera formula about the story. It is a modern story of human beings and the havoc wrought in their lives by a woman who cannot be faithful. The other picture is "Miracle On Main Street," with a cast which includes Margo, Walter Abel, William Collier, sr., Lyle Talbot and Wynne Gibson.

WELCOME TWO.

The Misses Margaret and Jean Lawhead were welcomed into membership in the Sew-a-Stitch club Thursday when Miss Rosa Schwaner, 24 Kohler avenue entertained. The evening was spent in doing fancy work, and playing games. The winners were Miss Lillian Rupanovic, Miss Evelyn Eichinger and Miss Helen Washington. The hostess served refreshments. A Christmas exchange will be a feature of the Dec. 21 meeting at the home of Miss Helen Rupanovic, 6 Kohler avenue.

BE-NAMED.

Mrs J. O. Baker was re-elected president of the Berean Bible class of the South Main Evangelical church Thursday afternoon when she entertained 14 members with a Christmas party at her home on Flint street. Mrs. Anna Barry was named secretary, and Mrs. Charles Gilliand is the new treasurer. There was a gift exchange during the social hour, and Christmas appointments decorated the luncheon tables. Mrs Harry Thompson has invited the group to her home, 33 Prospect street, for the next meeting, Jan. 11.

MRS. LODDE REVIEWS PLAY BEFORE GROUP

Gives "The American Way" at Cosmopolitan Tea; 60 Attend Holiday Session Held at Women's Club Friday.

MRS. V. H. LODDE gave a dramatic reading of "The American Way" by George S. Kauffman and Moss Hart yesterday at the Cosmopolitan club tea which was attended by 60 members and guests at the Women's Club. Hostesses were Mrs. C. O. Russell, Miss Florence Gernhardt and Mrs. John Conard.

This play, according to the speaker, is the most far-reaching drama of the 1938-39 season. It deals with the life of a German family from the period 1896 to 1939. "It is an expansive drama of patriotic propaganda," Mrs. Lodde stated. She was introduced by Mrs. J. H. Gongwer, president of the club.

The president and Mrs. Charles Fox presided at the tea table which was decorated with a reindeer filled with white mums and crystalized twiggs.

Members will meet again Jan. 12 at the home of Mrs. Frank Forshee when Mrs. H. H. Shaw and Mrs. W. B. Ford will present the program.

Name Richard Chapman To Music Club Office

Richard Chapman was elected assistant treasurer of the Little Mozarts yesterday evening during a meeting at the home of Peggy Iden on Wellington avenue. Ann Tracy, vice president, conducted the business session, after which Ruth Swisher reviewed the childhood of George Gershwin

There were 25 members, two councillors and several guests, including Mrs. K. E Buhr, present for the meeting. The group played musical games and sang Christmas carols during the evening. The hostess served refreshments following a gift exchange. Elizabeth Braker will have the meeting of Jan. 12 at her home on Sherman avenue.

Endowment funds for colleges decreased by three per cent during 1938-39.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LONG SUITES INDICATED

PLAYERS who fail to make overcalls at their first opportunity and then back into the bidding later, are pretty likely to have long suits in their hands without much honor strength. In other words, their holdings are probably close to worthless defensively, but of good power for play at their own declaratins. The partner who fits such a suit, with shortage in his hand somewhere, can therefore well consider a sacrifice, which may prove to be no sacrifice at all, but a successful contract.

With East and West using the artificial Vanderbilt club convention, West bid 1-Club here to show a generally strong hand. East denied a couple of quick tricks with 1-Diamond and South passed, to hear what was really West's suit. It came out at 1-Heart, which East raised to 2-Hearts, whereupon South called 3-Diamonds and West 3-Hearts.

North now went to 4-Diamonds, which West doubled. North's bid proved very profitable as, although East and West could have been set a trick at 3-Hearts, the doubled 4-Diamond contract was made, with the loss of just one heart and two trumps.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Something ingenious—and interesting. I am certain," I told her, smiling, for I did not wish her to think I attached any real importance to Olina's vagaries. "But I'm not going to waste your time or mine on guesses. Tell me what mischief she's concocting now, for I suppose it is mischief. That's sort of a specialty of hers."

"I — don't — know," she said slowly, spacing her words. "On the face of it, she's making a perfectly natural request which would be colossally impudent in anybody less sure of her ground than she is. But I can't help feeling there's something behind it."

I took her by the shoulders and gave her an exasperated little shake.

"Do you want me to share the fate of the famous cat—"

"That Curiosity killed?" she finished, wrinkling her nose at me. "Not for worlds, darling, so listen while I spoon the lentils. Did you know that Olina is an accomplished harpist?"

"No, I did not," I returned, "but I am not surprised. Playing the harp is supposed to be one of the occupations of the feminine royalty as will as angels, isn't it?"

"I imagine it is," she said. "At any rate, she's making it a spring board from which to dive into our play."

"What!" I almost shouted the word, for rarely have I been more astonished than I was by this announcement.

"I thought that would get you where you live," Mary said impishly. "But it's a fact, nevertheless. First, she sounded me out, telling me how she'd always longed to go on the stage, on how she'd been trained for private theatricals—the only form of the art open to princesses.

"She begged me, very prettily, to ask you if you would be willing to alter the scene that much, and she asked Noel to approach his father on the subject. Noel promptly told her that she would have far more influence with his father than he would, and I think she saw two points of light: first, that he was speaking the truth about his father, and, second, that he didn't relish the job. Pa-pa Veritzen hasn't been around since, so the matter is in abeyance, but I've done my duty in telling you about it. The worst of it is—"

"The worst of it is," I said, bracing myself for the unpleasant revelation, "that her suggestion is not only feasible but desirable. Her only obstacle will be Philip Veritzen."

"Have you overlooked what her mother might have to say on the subject?" Mary asked

By DILLON GRAHAM

NEW YORK — (AP) — There's a gridiron adage which says college players hit their competitive peak in their junior year. They no longer make the errors of sophomores and they have more spirit and drive than seniors.

This football axiom was borne out fully during the past thrill-packed season for six players on the 15th annual Associated Press All-America team, announced today on a basis of a nationwide survey of expert opinion, are juniors. The other five are seniors.

* * *

Perhaps the most spectacular of the juniors who emerged to challenge and overtake their upperclass rivals was Michigan's Thomas Dudley Harmon, who put on the most eye-filling one-man show the Middle West had seen since Harold (Red) Grange ran wild back in the Twenties.

* * *

Another was the 210-pound fullback, John Alex Kimbrough, who cracked opposing forward walls wide open to lead the Texas Aggies to their most fruitful season in many years. Four stalwart linemen complete the junior group: North Carolina's Paul Vincent Severin at end; Tulane's Harley Ray McCollum and Cornell's Nicholas Drahos at the tackles, and Tennessee's Edward Michael Molinski at guard.

The five seniors who closed out their intercollegiate careers by gaining the accolade were Iowa's sturdy "iron man" back, Nile Clarke Kinnick; Clemson's triple-threat, James Banks McFadden; Southern California's Harry Burdette Smith at guard; Santa Clara's John George Schiechl at center and Notre Dame's William Howard (Bud) Kerr at end.

* * *

The Old South, with probably the greatest collection of football talent it has ever produced, garnered more first team posts than any other sector, four, and sharply disputed Middle West dominance of the All-America squad as a whole—first, second and third teams.

* * *

Three spots on the No. 1 team went to the Middle West, two to the Far West, and one each to the East and Southwest. But on the all-star squad of 33, the Middle West had a nine to eight edge over the South, with six positions to the Far West, and five each to the Southwest and East.

Bill Kern Reported Interested In Post

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — (UP)—Bill Kern, Carnegie Tech football coach, is willing to take the coaching post, vacated by Marshall Glenn, at West Virginia university here, the Athenaeum, student newspaper, said it had learned from a "reputable but inviolable source" today.

The Athenaeum's source was quoted as saying Kern had expressed himself as "pleased with the athletic set-up here" and willing "to take the job if the board of governors offers it to me." the board meets Dec. 16 to name a new football coach.

GALION EDGES WILLARD IN NON-CONFERENCE TILT

Indians Await Offers For Frankie Pytlak

CLEVELAND —(AP)—Officials of the Cleveland Indians returned from the Cincinnati baseball meeting empty-handed today in so far as new players go, but Vice President C. C. Slapnicka indicated the club still expected to swap Catcher Frankie Pytlak.

Several bids for the mite backstop were received, but Slapnicka believes the league's shortage of catchers will bring more attractive offers later.

Landis Riles Club Owners At Cincinnati

One Owner Believes Judge Will Wreck Game Unless His Power's Curbed.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The battle line has been more tightly drawn now between Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis and the group of men who dislike the obstinate manner in which the old judge is running the game.

* * *

"It's a war to the finish now," seethed one particular magnate last night. "It's only a question of whether we can beat him before he wrecks the game." He meant it—every word.

* * *

The one who said this, incidentally, was not Larry MacPhail of Brooklyn, who slammed out of yesterday's joint league meeting when Landis began peremptorily rejecting the rules amendments that would have curbed his nearly unlimited power and have "given the farm system a chance for its life."

The approaching scrap, veteran observers believe, is likely to prove hotter than the one led against Landis more than a decade ago by President Phil Ball of the St. Louis Browns.

One thing is certain. The judge is champion now and riding higher than ever since he accepted the chair after the "Black Sox" scandal. He heard no argument at yesterday's meeting and it took him only 40 minutes to race through the amendments offered.

The meeting finally produced a rash of trading before the delegates left town last night. The consensus was that the most important deal of the week was the one in which the champion Cincinnati Reds bolstered their pitching staff by obtaining Jim Turner from Boston for Les Scarsella and cash.

The Boston Red Sox strengthened their infield reserve by purchasing Marvin Owen from Chicago.

* * *

The Boston Bees swapped Pitcher Danny MacFayden to Pittsburgh for another veteran flinger, Bill Swift, and cash. The White Sox sent Outfielder Rip Radcliff to the St. Louis Browns for Jules Solters and cash. The deal that would make Pie Traynor, former Pittsburgh manager, a coach at Brooklyn still was hanging fire.

* * *

The Philadelphia Athletics traded Wally Moses, outfielder, to Detroit for Benny McCoy, second baseman, and George Coffman, relief pitcher.

Tygers Trip South, 31 to 24, for Second Win

Ontario, Butler Hang Up Wins

Warriors Turn Back Madison By 24 to 20 Count; Bulldogs Win Over Lexington.

A DESPERATE last-period scoring spree failed to accomplish its purpose and the Madison high Rams suffered a 24 to 20 defeat at the hands of the Ontario high cagers in a Richland county league tussle on the Madison court last night.

Limited to one basket in the opening half, and trailing by a 20 to 10 count going into the final frame, the Rams broke loose to outscore their rivals, 10-4, but couldn't overcome the lead.

* * *

Coach Orv Kibler's Warriors, who bowed to Plymouth in a non-league setto last week, hopped into the lead in the initial chapter. Ontario put the damper on the Rams' attack in the first half to pile up a commanding lead.

* * *

It was the first circuit defeat for Madison and left it in a tie for third place with four other county combines. Ontario's upset win gave it a share of first place with Bellville.

Ontario led, 9 to 2, in the first stanza, and 15 to 3, at the intermission. Dave Weimer was high-point man for the losers with five markers.

The Ontario reserves edged the Madison seconds, 15 to 17, in a thrilling preliminary game.

Butler Overcomes Four-Point Lead.

LEXINGTON — Coach Bob Burgett's Butler high Bulldogs upset the dope bucket here last night by turning back Lexington high, 18 to 10, in a Richland county basketball league contest.

The Minutemen went ahead at the intermission, but was unable to garner more than four points after the half, while Butler piled up its advantage. Both combines had trouble locating the basket.

* * *

Butler was leading, 4 to 2, in the initial period, but trailed, 6-5 at the rest period, and regained the lead by a 10 to 8 count going into the final frame.

* * *

Grubb of Butler was the offensive star of the game, collecting eight points. Shaffed led Lexington with five points. The Lexington seconds defeated the Butler reserves, 21 to 17, in the prelim.

Chuckle Corner

And then there's that young Canadian who has been shot at 1,000 times. War hero? Nope—just an ice hockey goalie.

* * *

Pop thinks he's as big a hero as the brave men of ancient history. At least, he points out, they never had to get up at 5 a. m. and relight the furnace fire.

* * *

One of the earliest of fiction writers must have been that ancient geographer who referred to this as the north temperate zone.

* * *

Variety may be the spice of life, but nobody can stand vegetable soup and hash for dinner every day.

* * *

Archeologists are still unable to determine which continent was the actual birthplace of the human race, but at present Europe is far in the lead as a candidate for being its tomb.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—"His Not to Reason Why" By Harold Gray

IT'S AMAZING! ANSON JOG, THE BIGGEST POWER IN TOWN, NEXT TO NICK GATT! ANSON JOG IN JAIL FOR MURDER— AND STAYING IN JAIL—
12-9-39
AND THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY JACK BLACK, RECOGNIZED AS THE MACHINE'S MAN, TURNING OVER THE PROSECUTION OF JOG TO ME—
BUT, JOHN— IT'S JUST WHAT YOU WANTED—
YES—BUT I NEVER DREAMED IT COULD HAPPEN! THERE'S SOMETHING GOING ON THAT I DON'T UNDERSTAND— A HUNDRED HIDDEN THINGS— NO—I DON'T UNDERSTAND IT AT ALL—
WHY TRY? IT'S YOUR CHANCE, JOHN—MAKE GOOD FIRST AND ASK QUESTIONS LATER—
MAKE GOOD! YES—BY GAD, I WILL— I'LL PROVE THAT LAW AND JUSTICE IN THIS TOWN CAN MEAN SOMETHING—

THE NEBBS—That's All. By Sol Hess

SAY, MR. EMBERT, WHAT IS THIS POWER PILL RACKET YOU HAVE MY HUSBAND SO FUSSED UP ABOUT?
IT'S NO RACKET, MRS. NEBB—IT'S A WONDER-FUL OPPORTUNITY I'M LAYING IN YOUR HUSBAND'S LAP
I'VE SOLVED A PROBLEM I'VE BEEN WORKING ON FOR YEARS—IT'S GOING TO MAKE HIM WEALTHY BEYOND ALL YOUR DREAMS
YOU WOULDN'T CARE TO GO ON RECORD AS TO ABOUT THE AMOUNT?
NO, BUT I'M GOING TO MAKE HIM FABULOUSLY WEALTHY—YOU CAN HAVE FURS, JEWELS, A YACHT THAT WILL SAIL THE SEVEN SEAS—YOUR HUSBAND CAN SHOW HIS BEAUTIFUL WIFE TO THE WORLD INSTEAD OF LOCKING HER UP IN THIS HAMLET
I WON'T HAVE TO SPEND A CENT ON A YACHTING OUTFIT—I GOT ONE WHEN THE VAN MIDASES IN-VITED ME ON A YACHT CRUISE! ALL WE NEED IS THE YACHT

LIST HOLDS TO NARROW GROOVE, LEADERS LOWER

Financial Quarters See Further Signs of Business Let-Down, Store Sales Down.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market remained in a narrow groove today with the trend a shade lower for most leaders.

Financial quarters saw further signs of at least a moderate let-down in the lengthy business bulge as federal reserve figures for last week disclosed the country's department store sales dropped 5 per cent under the comparable 1938 level.

Declines of 10 per cent in distribution at New York and 29 per cent in the Boston district helped pull down the national level. Slight decreases were recorded at Philadelphia, Richmond, Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco, while small gains were reported from Cleveland, Atlanta, St. Louis and Dallas.

Those studying the utility stocks noted estimates from trade sources that 1939 gross revenues of the power and light industry should aggregate $2,650,000,000 or 5 per cent better than in the preceding year.

U. C. T. TO HOLD BANQUET FRIDAY

Mansfield Traveling Men Plan 49th Annual Affair.

Mansfield Council No. 13, United Commercial Travelers, will hold its 49th annual banquet and dance Friday in Moose hall.

A turkey dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m., followed by a program of entertainment, cards and dancing. The affair is held annually for all members, their families and friends.

Arrangements are in charge of a committee headed by E. E. Hudson. Robert Glessner is senior counselor of the lodge.

TALK ON BEES

Approximately 35 Richland county beekeepers heard talks last night at the courthouse by Charles A. Reese, state apiarist, and Paul Leedy of Bellville, county bee inspector.

Reese discussed the progress of the state campaign for control of disease in bee colonies and Leedy reported on his inspection work in the county. He pointed out lack of funds has prevented inspection of all county bee colonies.

STEPS ON WIRE. DIES.

LEXINGTON, Ky. —(U.P.)— Earl M. Sewell, 32, dazed when his automobile knocked down a telephone pole, stepped on a 33,000-volt power line and was electrocuted early today.

UNEASY BULLET MOVES IN HEAD

Man, Shot Last Year, Seeks Aid; Surgeons Say Operation Risky.

ROCHESTER, Minn. — (U.P.) — Merle Shields, 43, Middle River, Minn., game warden, won't forget he was shot in a hunting accident in 1938. The bullet is in his head—and moving around.

When he was shot the bullet tore into his jaw and lodged near the top of his head. A fall, months later, jarred the pellet loose. With periodic X-rays, physicians followed it over to the optic nerve. Then it moved to the base of the skull.

Shields believed the bullet was pressing against a nerve, causing him to become increasingly nervous. Mayo Clinic surgeons yesterday decided an operation would be too dangerous.

MORE BRITISH SHIPS GO DOWN

New 'Epidemic' of Sea Warfare Plagues Britain; 2 Vessels Sunk in 48 Hours.

from Copenhagen revealed that the Danish collier Scotia, a vessel of 2,400 tons, sank in the North Sea Thursday midnight following an explosion, and 21 members of the crew perished.

Grave fears also were felt for the brand new Japanese cargo steamer Azuma Maru, one of the best ships on the London-Tokyo mercantile run, which sent out an S. O. S. from Scottish waters yesterday.

Repeated efforts to contact the Azuma Maru, a ship of 6,646 tons, were unavailing. If she is lost, she will be the second Japanese ship to have been sunk in British waters since Germany opened her destructive mine and submarine campaign. On November 21, the Japanese luxury passenger liner Terukini Maru was sunk off Harwich.

The Azuma Maru's radio went silent after her first S. O. S.

Prior to the new sinkings yesterday's disasters for the British navy and merchant marine had been partially offset by capture of the German freighter Henning Oldendorff.

Most important was the torpedoing of the British destroyer, Jersey, launched only last April. Though damaged by the torpedo, she was able to reach harbor. The casualty list was put at 10 lost and 12 wounded.

Almost at the same time that damage to the destroyer Jersey was revealed, the British admiralty announced that two German submarines were sunk.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

To Tell About Trip—Paul Tappan is to be the speaker at next Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club, to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, and will tell about his South Seas trip and also show pictures.

Car Stolen — Neil S. Robinson, member of the county board of education, reported the theft of his car last night to Sheriff E. P. Long. Robinson, who lives in Madison township, said the car was taken from in front of his father's home northwest of Mansfield.

Check Grass Fire — Firemen from companies Nos. 1 and 2 were called to the home of S. M. Bowers, 109 Lily street, at 2:40 p. m. yesterday to extinguish a grass fire believed to have been started by boys.

REDS ON 'TRIAL' BEFORE LEAGUE

Predict Russia Will Quit League.

MOSCOW —(AP)— Well-informed foreign sources predicted today Soviet Russia might resign from the league of nations, rather than face possible expulsion on Finland's charges of aggression.

These sources said Russia had abandoned her policy of collective security and thus had retained little or no interest in the league.

(The league council assembled in Geneva today to hear Finland's complaint, with several South American nations urging that Russia be ousted.)

Further spread of the European conflicts and complications with neutrals were viewed by foreign observers as possible results, should Russia enforce the naval blockade she has proclaimed against Finland.

They said that since Russia holds she is not at war with Finland, she has no right to seize neutral ships.

They believed it possible that Russia might call the blockade the work of the new Russian-sponsored "people's" government for Finland and "lend" this group warships for the purpose.

Meanwhile, it was learned the Soviet government had established a new military district in the vicinity of Odessa, near the Rumanian frontier and across the Black Sea from Turkey.

PRESIDENT, TOO

James Roosevelt Promoted to Head Goldwyn Studios.

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — James Roosevelt, eldest son of the president, was a president himself today.

Samuel Goldwyn, film executive, announced that the board of directors of the Samuel Goldwyn studies had elected Roosevelt president of the Goldwyn Studio company.

This is the holding company which owns the physical properties of the studios, renting production space to other producers. Roosevelt will also continue his duties as vice-president of the Goldwyn producing unit.

The young film executive said he would remain at the Goldwyn studio at least until January, 1941, and declared there was no foundation for reports that he would form a motion picture company of his own.

YOUTH JAILED

Parolee Accused of Stealing Autos, Wrecking One.

Alvin Guthrie, 23, of R. D. 2, Shiloh, recently paroled from the Mansfield reformatory, was held in the county jail today as a parole violator after he allegedly stole two automobiles and wrecked one of them near Bucyrus.

One of the cars, stolen in Mansfield last Saturday, belongs to W. W. Doolittle of near Mansfield. It was recovered in Bucyrus by Crawford county officials with the motor damaged.

Guthrie allegedly abandoned a car stolen in Galion after it turned over in a ditch west of Bucyrus. The car is owned by Walter Zimmerman.

Guthrie was paroled from the reformatory several weeks ago after serving a term for chicken theft. He was to be arraigned before Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today or Monday.
